Live6 Alliance Is the Center of African American Arts & Culture in Northwest Detroit
$25,000 Grant from NEA Infuses Art, Culture, and Storytelling on Livernois and McNichols

Live6 Alliance, a nonprofit planning and development organization that works to enhance the quality of life and economic opportunity in Northwest Detroit will celebrate African American Arts and Culture through a $25,000 grant received by Detroit Mercy from the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA).

The University of Detroit Collaborative Design Center (DCDC) and Live6 Alliance will lead the initiative. The plan is to curate a series of events within the Livernois and McNichols community that exhibit the rich heritage of African American arts, stories, and culture.

Our very own Caitlin Murphy, Strategic Partnerships Manager, says, “An essential part of this is neighborhood storytelling and preserving history by showcasing stories of the neighborhood and the HomeBase facility. We will share a story that many of us don’t know and bring the community closer.

The mission of Live6 Alliance is to create meaningful economic opportunities for business owners and residents to improve the quality of life in the neighborhoods adjacent to the Livernois and McNichols corridors in Northwest Detroit. This opportunity will transform the area into the center of arts, culture, legacy, and storytelling.

###

About Live6 Alliance
Live6 Alliance’s mission is to enhance the quality of life and economic opportunity in Northwest Detroit. The organization acts as a conduit between the institutions and their surrounding communities, focusing on the McNichols and Livernois corridors with the support of our remarkable funders.