The Elks of Canada consist of nearly 300 Lodges with 13,000 members located in almost every province and territory.

How does my membership help the community?

The men and women of the Elks of Canada promote and support community needs across Canada. Whether it's local programs such as building projects, sports groups, playgrounds or other various charitable activities, Elk members love to be involved and help out.

The Elks of Canada also support and have many provincial and national programs. We are associated with charitable programs in almost every province and territory. As an organization we also sponsor programs such as our Leadership Development program for our members.

Our National Charity

The Elks of Canada support their own national charity - The Elks and Royal Purple Fund for Children. We take pride in helping children and supporting programs related to hearing and speech all across Canada. Over the years, the Elks and Royal Purple Fund for Children has received national and international recognition for dedicated and significant contributions to the advancement of communication health. The Elks of Canada are proud to have contributed millions of dollars and countless hours of volunteered time to charitable endeavours.
