REP. ISAAC SHERWOOD.

Brigadier General Isaac Sherwood, representative to congress from the Ninth Ohio district, recently celebrated his eighty-eighth birthday by taking in the Grand Circuit races at Toledo, O. "Fit as a fiddle, still," he says of himself.

Isaac Sherwood was born August 18, 1835. He was educated at Antioch college and the Ohio law school at Cleveland. His career both in military and civil life has been a distinguished one. He entered the army April 16, 1861, and served in West Virginia as a private for four months.

He was commissioned first lieutenant in the Eleventh Ohio volunteer infantry, and then was appointed adjutant, which position he filled during the Buell campaign in Kentucky. He received the appointment of major early in Morgan's campaign as well as that of East Tennessee.

A year later he was appointed lieutenant colonel. He fought in a number of famous battles in the Civil war, including those of Resaca, Burnt Hickory, Pine Mountain, Kenesaw Mountain, Peach Tree Creek, Atlanta and Duck River.

"For gallant and meritorious services" in the battle of Resaca, he was promoted to the rank of brigadier general of volunteers, to date from February 27, 1865. At the close of the war he resigned his commission and left the service.

General Sherwood was Ohio's secretary of state from 1869 to 1873 and was a member of the Forty-third congress, from the Sixth Ohio district. He was elected to the Sixtieth congress and, up to the present time, has held office almost continually. His most recent election to this position was in 1922, when he defeated Congressman Chalmers for re-election.
October 8: Portsmouth Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio

TOLEDO, Ohio, October 8.—(United Press).—General Isaac Sherwood, 90, one of the oldest ex-congressmen alive, was near death today from senility and anemia, according to physicians who have maintained a twenty-four hour vigil at the aged man’s bedside.

Due to General Sherwood’s advanced age, death is but a matter of days, physicians declared.

The former congressman has failed to respond to treatment and is slowly sinking. General Sherwood, a Civil War veteran, first entered congress in 1872. He retired last year, his last official public pronouncement being a scathing arraignment of prohibition on the floor of the house January 16, 1924.

October 15: Sherwood died.
