PLACE HOLDERS

Weather-hardy tables for eating or meeting alfresco

1 Pentsun by Extremis

Origami influenced the folded legs of this expansive dining table. Made of powder-coated or galvanized steel, they support three sizes of hardwood plank tops. extremis.be

2 Sequoia by Roche Bobois

Named after the giant redwood, the laser-cut top of this lacquered steel cocktail table resembles tree rings. Available in black or white, and as an end or pedestal table. roche-bobois.com

3 Porcini by Dedon

These mushroom-shaped garden tables come in four colours and five models, from 41 to 61 centimetres, with two optional bases of solid ceramic or woven fibre. dedon.de

4 Vigor by Royal Botania

The square-cut aluminum frames of this picnic set join to the rough teak or mahogany surfaces using dovetails. royalbotania.com

5 Avivo by Forms + Surfaces

This table has a powder-coated frame in extruded and cast aluminum, and the top can be inset with aluminum, wood, or glass (shown). Chairs are included in the line to bring café seating to hotels, bars or terraces. forms-surfaces.com

6 Nesting Table by Serax

Paola Navone's series of garden furniture for the Belgian company includes a set of three white powder-coated nesting tables with hairpin legs. serax.com
