Structuring and outlining your paper

Classic essay paper outline
- Different paper contexts will shape the structure (IR versus anthropology versus chemistry, for example)
  - Title
  - Introduction
  - Body
    - Start to explore the issue
    - Continue to explore and develop the issue
    - Identify extra dimensions within the issue
    - Clarify the heart of the issue
  - Conclusion
  - References

Classic/alternative research paper outline
- Title
- Abstract
- Introduction
- Theory / propositions
- Methods
- Results
- Discussion
- Conclusions (and speculations)
- References

Outlining
- Outlining helps us ensure a clear narrative running through the article, and logical argument development
- State your purpose
  - This will give you focus
  - Can cut text and arguments that do not contribute towards your purpose (helps meet the word limit)
- Drafting an outline of the paper means to work through the details of each section in more detail
  - What will be the headings/subheadings of each section
  - What will be the topic and main message of each paragraph?
  - What are the key citations (if any) for each paragraph?

Example Outline

The following outline is for a 5-7 page paper discussing the link between educational attainment and health. Review the other sections of this page for more detailed information about each component of this outline!

I. Introduction
   A. Current Problem: Educational attainment rates are decreasing in the United States while healthcare costs are increasing.
   B. Population/Issues of Focus: Unskilled or low-skilled adult workers
   C. Key Trends: Healthy, well-educated

Thesis Statement: Because of their income deficit (site sources) and general susceptibility to depression (site sources), students who drop out of high school before graduation maintain a higher risk for physical and mental health problems later in life.

II. Background
   A. Historical Employment Overview: Unskilled laborers in the past were frequently mistreated and adequately compensated for their work (site sources).
   B. Historical Healthcare Overview: Unskilled laborers in the past were often provided adequate healthcare and benefits (site sources).
   C. Current Link between Education and Employment Type: Increasingly, unskilled workers work in unskilled or low-skilled jobs (site sources).
   D. Gaps in the Research: Little information exists exploring the health implications of the current conditions in low-skilled jobs.
