HOW THE STORY GOES

In 2003, Founder and Owner Larry Mellum opened his first chowder house in Pike Place Market, located in a small, charming hole-in-the-wall that angled off the cobblestone alley.

He perfected small batches of fresh, briny comfort food that his customers couldn't resist. With big wins at the Great Chowder Cook-Off in Rhode Island, for the Traditional Clam Chowder and Seafood Bisque, Larry decided to create a variety of the best chowders he could dream up.

SEATTLE'S NUMBER OF LIVE MUSIC PERFORMANCES ARE SECOND ONLY TO NEW YORK.

Smoked Salmon, because he loves Lox & Bagels. Seared Scallop because... why not? Crab & Oyster, with Chorizo. And, with the amazing produce at Pike Place Market, his ingredients always include the freshest vegetables, spices, and herbs – no compromises, ever. Just great chowder!

Today, the café at Pike Place Market serves 8 varieties daily while his second chowder house, located on the 4th floor of Pacific Place Shopping Center, offers 5 daily varieties and an expanded menu, including fish tacos, fish 'n chips, and premium brews.

Everybody Loves Pike Place Chowder ... That's what the high-tech customer said after a transfer to Singapore left him craving his favorite soup. On a visit to Seattle, he purchased an extra seat for a gallon of chowder and sent photos of the unpacking ceremony on his return to Asia.
