Nadia Sussman

Nadia Sussman is a video and multimedia journalist based in Brazil who explores social issues in Latin America through short-form documentaries. Her work has been published by numerous outlets including The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, BBC News, Bloomberg, TIME, and others. Nadia received a master’s degree in journalism at the City University of New York Graduate School of Journalism in 2011. Prior to attending CUNY, she worked as an investigator for death row habeas corpus appeals in California and as a researcher for documentary films. She earned a B.A. in political science at Yale University in 2003.