

Anduhyaun Board of Directors

Invitation for Volunteer Board Members

Anduhyaun exists to support Aboriginal women and their children in their efforts to maintain cultural identity, self-esteem, economic, physical and spiritual well-being. In 1973, Anduhyaun was established as Canada's first Aboriginal women's emergency shelter and in 1995 Anduhyaun added a supportive housing facility, Nekenaan Second Stage Housing, to its services.

Anduhyaun is seeking to add multiple volunteer Directors as Members of the Board. If you have Board experience, or wish to gain Board experience, and the desire to serve the community, Anduhyaun is now inviting expressions of interest from individuals across the GTA.

In addition to sound governance and strategic vision, the Directors of Anduhyaun bring a comprehensive spectrum of skills, experience and thought leadership to the table. The Agency is currently in need of Board members whose professional background encompass financial management; fundraising; public relations/communication; social service; human resource; and legal expertise.
