"PXL Frame provides a blank canvas for a client to endlessly tailor the aesthetics of their space"

Change, as they say, is good—and that's certainly true of dynamic interiors. Helping the walls keep pace is PXL Frame, a modular frame system by Mark Kinsley outfitted with changeable magnetic panels. Using display technologies developed by Visual Magnetics, the durable panels are custom-printed with high-resolution photography or artwork to the client's specifications. (Whiteboard, chalkboard, or paintable canvases are also possible.)

The square modules come in two sizes, 9 and 16 inches, which can intermingle within the extruded-aluminum frame (in black, silver, or white powder coat). Change the panels as often as desired. lakeandwells.com. circle 378 ➤
