REFUGEES MAKE COLORADO STRONG

When 19-year-old Christian received a Mile High Youth Corps award and gave a speech at the State Capitol on Monday before a crowd of legislators, federal officials and others, his mother was not able to attend. His mother, Elise, was at the hospital. Christian was only one year old when his mother was attacked and his father murdered by Hutus in Rwanda. After taking refuge in Congo, violence erupted there as well and Elise sought help from the UNHCR. The family was resettled in Colorado Springs and received help from Lutheran Family Services, Rocky Mountain Refugee and Asylee program. With their help, Elise has been able to receive surgery for her debilitating injuries. Christian currently studies at Pikes Peak Community College and plans to attend medical school to become a surgeon.
