

REFUGEE RESETTLEMENT IN Indiana

REFUGEES IN INDIANA

The United States has been a leader in welcoming refugees who seek safety from persecution based on their race, religion, nationality, political opinion or membership in a particular social group. Following World War II, the U.S. began welcoming refugees and over time the system has evolved to have a strong infrastructure centered on public-private partnerships. Communities across the U.S. have recognized the important economic and social benefits of resettling refugees. Indiana residents have played a vital role in the resettlement program and refugees have positively contributed to IN communities. In 2013, organizations and communities across Indiana welcomed just over 2% of refugees arriving in the U.S. Of the 1,708 newcomers to Indiana in 2013. 150 were asylees, 1,541 were resettled refugees, and 17 were Iraqi and Afghan Special Immigrant Visa (SIV) recipients who served alongside U.S. troops.

Where are most refugees in Indiana from?

Bhutan
Burma
Iraq
Somalia
Sri Lanka

SERVICES AVAILABLE TO REFUGEES IN INDIANA

In addition to programming to support refugees when they first arrive to the United States, the federal government provides monetary aid through grants to the state, Voluntary Agencies, and other refugee aid organizations for community and short-term refugee support. The Indiana Family and Social Services Administration's Office of Refugee Resettlement serves as the refugee resettlement office for the state. Primary program services include cash and medical assistance, access to English as a second language classes, vocational and employment assistance. Discretionary grants are also awarded to private agencies for various other self-sufficiency programs.

FEDERAL FY14 ORR FUNDING TO INDIANA FOR REFUGEE PROGRAMS (AS OF DECEMBER 2013)
Total	Cash & Medical Assistance	Matching Grant	Refugee Social Services	State Targeted Assistance	School Impact	Preventive Health	Ethnic Community Self Help
7,268,364	$3,710,000	$1,359,600	$1,172,379	$372,618	$307,890	$145,877	200,000

Another service available to refugees in Indiana is the employment Matching Grant Services, administered by Voluntary Agencies in the state. An alternative to public cash assistance, private agencies match federal contributions and provide intensive case management services to help refugees get employed and become self-sufficient within 120 days of arrival.

"Despite all the suffering he's been through, he's always looking for a way to help others...to empower them."

-Carleen Miller, Director of Exodus Refugee

REFUGEES MAKE INDIANA STRONG

Emmanuel Musinga grew up in the eastern mountains in the Congo. He was a part of a Tutsi Tribe, and lived among his family in a small village where farming was a major source of income. Emmanuel grew up only going to school occasionally because he would help his family on the farm. He didn't have shoes and used to have to walk two miles to fetch water. In the late 1990's civil war broke out in the Congo and neighboring Rwanda, and as a Tutsi, Emmanuel was a target for the invading militia groups. He was wounded in an attack, which eventually led him to a refugee camp in Kenya. From there he was able to flee the threats and violence and come to the U.S. with his wife and children. When he first arrived he immediately began working two jobs and taking care of his family, while also learning English and helping other refugees resettle in Indiana. Now, as a pastor of a new church, social worker, husband, and father of three children, Emmanuel sets an example by the way that he gives back to his community. He regularly provides transportation, translation services, and mentoring for other refugees resettled in Indiana.

LOCAL REFUGEE RESETTLEMENT OFFICES AND AFFILIATES IN INDIANA

- CWS, American Red Cross, St. Joseph County Refugee Program, South Bend
- CWS/EMM, Exodus Refugee/Immigration, Inc., Indianapolis
- USCCB, Catholic Charities, Gary
- USCCB, Catholic Charities of Fort Wayne-South Bend, Inc., Fort Wayne
- USCCB, Catholic Charities Indianapolis, Indianapolis

In addition to these agencies, many ethnic community-based organizations (ECBOs) exist throughout the state to help various refugee communities integrate and succeed in their new homes. These organizations are run by refugees to aid in the resettlement of fellow refugees by providing a variety of direct services, increasing civic participation, and preserve the community's cultural identity and history.