

REFUGEE RESETTLEMENT IN West Virginia

REFUGEES IN WEST VIRGINIA

The United States has been a leader in welcoming refugees who seek safety from persecution based on their race, religion, nationality, political opinion or membership in a particular social group. Following World War II, the U.S. began welcoming refugees and over time the system has evolved to have a strong infrastructure centered on public-private partnerships. Communities across the U.S. have recognized the important economic and social benefits of resettling refugees. West Virginia residents have played a vital role in the resettlement program and refugees have positively contributed to WV communities. In 2013, organizations and communities across West Virginia welcomed less than 1% of refugees arriving in the U.S. Of the 64 newcomers to West Virginia in 2013, 39 were asylees, and 25 were resettled refugees.

Where are most refugees in West Virginia from?

Iraq
Eritrea

SERVICES AVAILABLE TO REFUGEES IN WEST VIRGINIA

In addition to programming to support refugees when they first arrive to the United States, the federal government provides monetary aid through grants to the state, Voluntary Agencies, and other refugee aid organizations for community and short-term refugee support. The Department of Health and Human Services serves as the refugee resettlement office for the state. Primary program services include cash and medical assistance, access to English as a second language classes, vocational and employment assistance.

FEDERAL FY14 ORR FUNDING TO WEST VIRGINIA FOR REFUGEE PROGRAMS (AS OF DEC 2013)
Total	Cash & Medical Assistance	Refugee Social Services
$130,000	$55,000	$75,000

Another service available to refugees in West Virginia is the employment Matching Grant Services, administered by Voluntary Agencies in the state. An alternative to public cash assistance, private agencies match federal contributions and provide intensive case management services to help refugees get employed and become self-sufficient within 120 days of arrival.

"My boat was small. They put more than 500 people on the boat. When we got to Malaysia, 119 people survived. ...sometimes I dream about all that I went through. It never really leaves you. But I'm doing well now in the United States. I became a citizen 12 years ago."

--Ha To Ta

REFUGEES MAKE WEST VIRGINIA STRONG

Ha To Ta grew up poor on a farm in Vietnam. He has worked hard all his life and has carried that work ethic to the United States where he was resettled as a refugee. Ha trained as a hairdresser in Saigon and eventually opened up his own beauty shop. When his country was taken over by communist military groups, he lost his beauty shop. In 1978, he finally escaped as one of the "boat people" taking the dangerous journey by sea to Malaysia. He waited two years in a refugee camp in Malaysia and eventually was sponsored by the Baptist Temple in Charleston, West Virginia. When he first arrived he washed dishes in a Chinese restaurant and lived in a one-room apartment with three other refugees. He saved up enough money and opened up Reema's Beauty Shop in Kanawha City, WV. He renovated the shop himself. Ha eventually married and has two boys. One is an honor graduate from WVU and applied to medical school and the other is currently in high school. Not only is he a proud business owner, but a proud father and husband.

LOCAL REFUGEE RESETTLEMENT OFFICES AND AFFILIATES IN WEST VIRGINIA

- USCCB, Catholic Charities, Charleston

In addition to these agencies, many ethnic community-based organizations (ECBOs) exist throughout the state to help various refugee communities integrate and succeed in their new homes. These organizations are run by refugees to aid in the resettlement of fellow refugees by providing a variety of direct services, increasing civic participation, and preserve the community's cultural identity and history.