Expanding the Narrow "Tough on Crime" Focus:
Cristosal Publicly Challenges the Government to Create Policies and Programs for Victims of Violence

Salvadoran Vice President Oscar Ortiz this month downplayed Amnesty International’s recent report “Home Sweet Home? Honduras, Guatemala and El Salvador’s role in a deepening refugee crisis” which highlights the role the Governments of El Salvador, Honduras and Guatemala play in deepening the refugee crisis in the region.

Cristosal's Chief Program Officer, Celia Medrano took to the press to keep the government's inaction for victims in the spotlight. Read what she had to say in response.
Cristosal Program Officer Celia Medrano is asking Salvadoran Vice President Oscar Ortiz to focus on policies and programs for victims of violence and not just the suppression of gangs.

Global Eyes Media and ED Noah Bullock's Documentary On the 'Impromptu Communities' Created by Families Displaced From Their Homes

When the poor are forced to flee their homes from violence, where do they go?

El Milagro de Dios is a 20 minute documentary by Noah Bullock, Doriana Hammond and Jeff Hammond that follows families from one of the over 2000 impromptu communities in El Salvador.

Learn more about the documentary and Cristosal's ambitions to strengthen Salvadoran communities to receive families displaced by violence.
