Advancing Human Rights in Central America

Happy Thanksgiving from Cristosal!

As we reflect on our blessings this year, we want to thank you all for your ongoing generosity and support. Without you, Cristosal's work to advance human rights in Central America would not be possible.

In sharing this tradition here in El Salvador, we've asked some of Cristosal's staff to share what they are grateful for this year. Read some of their stories below...

From our family to yours, may you have a joyful and blessed Thanksgiving!

-The Cristosal Team

¿Por qué dar gracias?
What are you thankful for?

Graciela Vallecillos

"Doy la gracia por estar vivo, por tener el salud, y por supuesto tener el trabajo, estar haciendo algo sobre la violencia en el país."

"I give thanks for being alive, healthy, and of course to have work, to be doing something about violence in this country."

David Morales

"La oportunidad seguir trabajando cerca del favor de las personas quienes son víctimas de la violencia. He trabajado mucho en los derechos humanos, y tengo la oportunidad continuar esto con Cristosal."

"The opportunity to continue working for the benefit of people who are victims of violence, and I have accompanied them. I have worked in human rights for a long time, and I have the opportunity to continue doing so with Cristosal."

Hazel Bolanos

"¡Muchas cosas bonitas! Por mi familia, trabajo que me gusta, me siento rodeado de personas buenas."

"Many beautiful things! For my family, for work that I like, I feel surrounded by good people."

Cesar Elias

"Muchas cosas: principalmente la gracia de Dios. También mi familia, mi trabajo, todas las bendiciones en mi vida."

"Many things: first and foremost the grace of God. Also, my family, my work, all the blessings in my life."
