Nature has a way of teaching us many important lessons. Maria Montessori reminds us of this in her book entitled, The Secret of Childhood. A great example is the endless number of trips that a bird takes to carry food to the nest. The bird does not eat all of the food and enjoy the sunshine while the babies starve in the nest. My lovely daughter-in-laws remind me of this as I watch their endless laboring of caring for my infant and toddler grandchildren. They sacrifice their sleep, warm meals, and resources for their children. The parents reading this message likely do the same thing for their children. Society however, teaches us to do the opposite. It encourages the collection of wealth at the expense of others and a lack of empathy for those who are different.

Maria Montessori encourages us to defend the futures of our children. We do this by recognizing their worth, power, and understanding their nature. She wrote, “Parents have a very important mission. They are the only ones who can save their children by uniting and working together for the improvement of society.” At Montessori of Wooster, we also hope to empower parents by providing a strong network of educated and actively involved parents.

Montessori Mondays are one opportunity for us to network as a community. If you are not registered for the first Montessori Monday, September 30, we want to encourage you to do it today. Childcare will be provided. This educational opportunity will also include a meal for adults and pizza for the children. There is no cost for the childcare or program. We would like you to bring a food item from our recipe that we will use to cook our meal during the session. A list is available on the registration link or provided when you call to register. You can register on-line under the RESOURCES tab or by phone at 330-264-5222.
