THE SUMMER

READING PLAN

PSTAFF PSALMS

Mark: Psalm 19

So hard to pick just one Psalm as my favorite, but I'll go with the 19th Psalm! All of the universe and beyond were created by God for His glory and to show forth His infinite beauty and creativity and greatness. And in the first 6 verses of this psalm, I love how David begins by inviting us to look up, to take our eyes off ourselves, our difficult situation, our struggles, or the other million and one distractions in our lives and to simply gaze upon God's glory in the sky and in the heavens. No matter what we're going through, God in His goodness towards us has designed the sky and the heavens in such a way that we can always look up and behold His glory and beauty and be reminded of His faithfulness and steadfast love. I also love the 2nd half of this psalm where we find David giving thanks and praise to the Lord for the gift of God's law and the benefits of seeking to follow His law. What a great reminder that God out of His love for us gives us His commands to bless us!

Savannah: Psalm 27

I like this Psalm because it gives me confidence in the Lord when I am fearful which fills my heart with peace. My favorite verse is verse 8, "You have said, "Seek my face." My heart says to you "Your face, Lord, do I seek." I want this to be a declaration I live by - your face, Lord, do I seek!

Joe: Psalm 73

This is one of my favorite Psalms because it reminds me that being near to God is my greatest treasure. The author Asaph is really raw and transparent with his struggle to keep following God when things don't go his way and the wicked keep winning. In the end he recalls that those near to God possess the true treasure and those far from him are not to be envied. "My flesh and my heart may fail, but God is the strength of my heart and my portion forever."

Stephen: Psalm 84

I love the history behind this psalm. It was written by the sons of Korah, an infamous character in the OT who incited a rebellion against Moses in Numbers 16. Since they did not participate in the rebellion, God spared them and appointed them to serve as gatekeepers and worship leaders at the tent of meeting and in the temple. God set them up in His house as a living sign of mercy to His people. Their psalms reflect humility, thankfulness, and devotion towards God.

Donny: Psalm 103

I love this Psalm because it encourages me greatly! I'm encouraged because of the way in which he is coaching or commanding himself to "Bless the Lord, oh my soul" because we've all been in that place where our hearts may not be feeling it and so we "bless the Lord" with our mouths and our actions until our hearts follow suit. I also love this line: "...who crowns you with steadfast love and mercy, ..." because his steadfast love and mercy to us IS a crown ushering us into adoption into his family as sons and daughters of God.
