Welcome to Money & Tech Skills. We take a student-centered approach toward helping older adults achieve financial independence, security and a greater sense of well-being.

The benefits to our students are:

- A focus on overcoming fears about money and technology
- Confidence and ease in accessing and using critical consumer tools
- Pacing and individualized instruction designed to meet the needs of every student
- A foundation for more advanced content
- Students are equipped to protect themselves from financial abuse
- Transferable skills for accessing a wide variety of essential services and products

Money & Tech Skills classes are held on an on-going basis throughout Los Angeles at SBSS’s Centers, and at community partner sites.

For more information regarding dates and locations, or to find out about incorporating the curriculum into your organization’s scope of services, please contact:

Chad Finlay, Project Director
cfinlay@sbssla.org
213.355.8560

ST. BARNABAS SENIOR SERVICES
Los Angeles

Mid-City Center
675 S. Carondelet St.

Hollywood Center
5170 Santa Monica Blvd.

Echo Park Center
1021 North Alvarado St.
Money & Tech Skills is provided by St. Barnabas Senior Services to help disadvantaged older adults achieve facility in financial management.

With low fixed incomes and few assets, every step toward improved control of finances can mean the difference between stability and dire consequences.

By developing students core aptitude and knowledge, Money & Tech Skills enables everyone to use the consumer systems essential for thriving in today’s online world.

The six-week curriculum is designed to transition students from understanding basic concepts and development of essential technical skills to discovery of the services available through online banking.

The same concepts instilled in the program can help students to access insurance, healthcare, utility and government resources online.

SBSS will work with you to deliver the Money & Tech Skills curriculum in the mode that’s best suited for your needs:

- At any of SBSS’s three Centers or partner locations
- Tablets are provided to program participants for use during the class
- SBSS instructors can come to your organization
- We also offer a training program for instructors so that your organization can offer the Money & Tech Skills curriculum on its own

Money & Tech Skills consists of a six-week program, with both group and individual instruction offered within each session.

Two separate tracks are offered, one for adults over 60, and one for those between 50 and 59 who are seeking to improve their financial management skills as they prepare for retirement.

In addition to financial and technical skills, the program teaches best practices and safeguards critical to protecting older adults from fraud and identity theft in the online environment.

Classes are provided in English and Spanish, with more language options being developed.