

NY CULTURE

Subversive Salutes to Valentine's Day

Benicio Del Toro, Super-8 Films and More in This Week's Repertory Film

By STEVE DOLLAR

Feb. 12, 2014 9:54 p.m. ET

A still from one of Stephanie Gray's super-8 films. Stephanie Gray

Stephanie Gray : Super-8 Films

Center for Performance Research

361 Manhattan Ave., Brooklyn mononoawarefilm.com

Monday

Super-8 filmmaker and poet Stephanie Gray presents an hour-long program of short films under the title, "What You Thought You Knew/What You Knew You Thought." Her subjects include old storefronts in downtown Buffalo, as well as street scenes in Coney Island and the East Village, "seen through eyes of wondering where some of the authenticity went." The show, which includes Ms. Gray's live poetry performance, is part of an ongoing series sponsored by the nonprofit outfit Mono No Aware.