TWO THE BEE, DANVILLE, VA., FRIDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1923

BAND CONCERT IN NORTH DANVLLE IS APPRECIATED

The fourth of a series of concerts by the First Coast Defense Band of Danville was given last night at the Roosevelt Jackson school auditorium to a large and appreciative audience. All the numbers presented drew generous applause. A feature of the program was a solo by A. A. Hall.

The Coast Defense band has developed into a splendid organization. Weekly practice under the able leadership of A. A. Hall band master has brought its quota of perfection and critics have no hesitancy in saying that the band is one of the best in the state.

There remains one more concert of the series of five to be given. This will probably be presented as a part of the Armistice Day program on Saturday, November 11.

GREEK INFANT IS CHRISTENED

An event of more than usual interest and pleasure to the members of Danville's Hellenic colony, now numbering seventy-five adults and twenty-odd children, was the christening yesterday afternoon of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Tsokatos with the impressive ceremonies of the Greek orthodox church. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. John Vasiliades, of Norfolk, who is already known to many of his fellow-countrymen in Danville and to a number of others here.

The christening ceremony began at 4 o'clock and occupied about 45 minutes. The service as it is the Greek church is accompanied by singing and chanting and is withal a solemn and beautiful consecration of the child to God. Louis Lambeth stood god-father to the child. The symbolism of the service adds to its impressiveness.

After the christening service, the sixty-odd persons present united in cordial congratulations to the parents and grandparents of the little son christened. Therefore the occasion was a festive one in the course of which refreshments of a varied and substantial character were partaken of by all present. The congenial and convivial group enjoyed the happy celebration until about midnight, with songs and toasts and mutable exchanges of compliments.

Since his arrival here the clergyman had been the guest of T. A. Dunlace, on Patton street. One of the duties of Mr. Vasiliades' presence in Danville was the conclusion of arrangements to secure the presence of the minister here once a month to hold services, particularly for the children of Greek parentage, but for the adults as well, and on these occasions the Holy Communion will be celebrated. Seventy-five adults signed an agreement to accept the clergyman's coming to this city for these services. The early coming to this city of the president of the Greek-American Progressive society of Atlanta to stimulate the local society is also announced. One of the chief aims of this organization is to impel Americans of Greek birth or parentage to identify themselves thoroughly with American institutions and to become in a truer sense citizens of their adopted country.

AIR CARNIVAL IN NEWPORT NEWS

(By The Associated Press.)

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Oct. 25.—The air carnival which is to be held at Langley Field Saturday has aroused great interest on the peninsula due to the fact that it promises to be the largest and best show of this kind that has ever been attempted. Not only are all the resources of Langley Field being utilized but the men, talent and material of flying squads all over the country are being procured in order to make this show superior to any shown in the past at Langley Field.

Among the many attractions to be shown will be "sky writing" by Lieutenant Woodruff Brooklyn who has flown from Dayton, Ohio, to put on this demonstration. Between attending the carnival will have an opportunity to inspect his plane and sky writing apparatus as well as to question Brooklyn on this subject. He will also give a demonstration of his ability in aerial acrobacy.

The smoke screen is another feature which ought to prove of especial interest to those interested in aviation. This is a recent discovery of the army ordnance and it is believed "will prove" of great value in active operations. An airplane flying at about two hundred feet in the air will release a trail of dense white smoke which will fall like a curtain to the ground. The curtain is so dense that nothing can be seen through it and that the actions of the enemy's troops cannot be seen by the enemy.

HENRY FORD FOR A DRY COOLIDGE

(By The Associated Press.)

DETROIT, Oct. 25.—Henry Ford is "for President Coolidge strong" if he makes a sincere to enforce the prohibition law, according gle a copyrighted story published by the Detroit Free Press. Mr. Ford said he was sure the incumbent of the White House could dry up the country if he wanted to, according to the story.

"If he does, I'm for him—strong," Mr. Ford is quoted as saying. "The president knows it is the right thing to do."

Expressing his own policy in regard to the enforcement of the 18th amendment, Mr. Ford reflected his statement of a month ago that he "would order out the army and navy if necessary" to see that the law was enforced.

"Let the drinkers once know," the story quotes Ford as saying, "the government is really determined that the law of the land shall be treated with the respect America now must have, even if it has to build a few additional wings to federal prisons, and this country will become dry."

BETTER GRADES IN EVIDENCE.

The better grades of tobacco were reported yesterday as selling better on warm promises to be the largest sale of leaf on the Danville market since the season began. The seven warehouse floors were well covered with loose leaf and the sales began. Estimates on the quantity ranged from between half a million and 600,000 pounds.

"DUPLEX" HOUSE FOR $11,000

CURTIS SERVICE BUREAU OF CLINTON, IA., DESIGNED THIS SQUARE TYPE DUPLEX.

The Curtis Service Bureau of Clinton, Ia., estimates this home to cost $11,000, including wiring, heating and plumbing. The estimates may differ a little in certain localities.

In the larger towns and cities where lot values are one of the main considerations in the cost of building, the duplex or two-family house meets a real need. Unlike the flat or apartment, it preserves the "feel" and appearance of home and yet makes possible many a "home of your own" that could not be built if the whole cost of building and maintenance had to be borne by one family.

Some builders prefer the two-family type—where the towns are side by side, each having rooms on both floor—while others prefer the duplex—where one apartment is above the other—as in the desirable plan featured here.

Rectangular Type

This building is strictly rectangular, even the porches being included in the rectangle and under the plain hip roof. The small porch at the right may be used as an entrance porch for both apartments, and access may be had to the first floor apartment from the living porch at the left, also.

Each suite consists of living room, dining room, kitchen, two bedrooms, vanity and bath, with clothes closets, linen closet and coat closet. The second floor has a sun-porch rather than an open living porch, and an inviting alcove above the small entrance porch, otherwise the room arrangement is identical with the first floor.

Among the built-in conveniences incorporated in the plans are a combination sideboard and kitchen-dresser between the dining room and kitchen, with sliding doors for passing dishes from one room to the other.

Dressers

There are also dressers in the pantry, a work table in the kitchen, and medicine cabinet in the bathroom. The pantry, which adjoins the rear entrance, affords an excellent location for the refrigerator. The upper house has a built-in bookcase in the alcove, and French doors to the sun porch.

Windows are used singly, or in groups of two or three—even more in the sun-porch, they vary in size. There are quaint, attractive bays. But they are symmetrically placed, and add wonderfully to the appearance of the house because of their division into small panes.

Not the least of the good features of the design is the fact that standard materials, in standard sizes, can be used all the way through. This includes woodwork that is stock both in size and design throughout. No homebuilder should overlook the economy of the use of stock materials in planning, yet it is practically impossible to take care of this feature in "house-made" plans.

BREAKING UP OF GERMANY WONT BE ALLOWED; WARNING IS ISSUED TO POINCARE

(By The Associated Press.)

PLYMOUTH, England, Oct. 25.—The British prime minister, speaking here tonight before the 5,000 delegates of the Conservative party convention sounded a warning to the French premier, M. Poincare, to consider "for himself, for his nation, for us and for the world"—thrice before he refused the invitation extended by the British government to the allies to accept American participation to a conference for a settlement of the German reparations question.

Declaring that position was grave, he considered it inconceivable that any one could refuse to take advantage of such an opportunity.

At another point in his speech, Premier Baldwin, who has a gentle way of making important pronouncements, declared, with reference to the possibility of the breaking up of Germany that the amount of Germany's payments must be ascertained in the light of her present and future position and added significantly:

"No one could we contemplate the breaking off of any part of Germany into separate states, for that would at once break the treaty of Versailles."

The premier brushed aside for the time all the sweeping plans for imperial preference, as far as they embrace a policy of protection, by declaring the government still was bound by his pledge that there would be no fundamental changes in the fiscal policy. During his address the premier also sought to drive a decisive nail in the coffin of the rumor that he was flirting with the idea of money inflation.

"We have been accused of having no policy. We have definite policy in regard to debts, reparations and guarantees, the security of our allies and the fulfillment by Germany of her obligations.

"You know what our policy is. The statement on the continent know it.

"But higher than the need of a definite policy in the need of securing a common action and carrying that policy into effect.

Referring to a Punch cartoon picturing him drifting in an airplane he said:

"We are drifting, but looking for a safe place to land. All Europe is drifting in an airplane, and if they do not find a safe place to land, and find it soon they will all crash."

Dealing with the question of why the government did not follow up its note of August 11 to France, Mr. Baldwin explained that hardly had the reply note been received when it became obvious that the passive resistance of Germany was breaking down. The government had good reason to believe that, on the strong up of passive resistance negotiations might be resumed. Inquiries on that subject were made, but while awaiting a reply President Coolidge made his statement in America, offering American participation. If invited by all the allies in an allied conference or to be represented by American experts on a committee of experts under the auspices of the reparation commission.

"When people speak about our want of policy," continued the premier, "I think they mean our failure to effect that common action necessary to bring to successful end troubles in which Europe today is enmeshed. We have lost no opportunity in endeavoring to secure that common action. In all statements that have been made, in all documents that have been published, are reported, despite what our opponents may have or elsewhere, the views of a cabinet absolutely and entirely united."

On learning of President Coolidge's statement, a note was sent to the allies strongly urging an affirmative reply.

"I had the pleasure of meeting Monsieur Poincare" the premier went on, and "establishing with him the closest relations which make it not too difficult for me to say what I am going to say now. He represents today the opinion of practically the whole of France, and I beg of him to consider, for himself, for his nation, for us and for the world, once and twice and thrice before he refuses this invitation."

CIVIL SERVICE ABUSES MADE BY REPUBLICANS

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Women voters were urged to investigate the "abuses of civil service by the Republicans" by Mrs. Emily Newell Blair, vice chairman of the Democrat committee in a statement today. She charged that the "Republican administration has returned outright to the spoils system and is clinging to the service in name only."

Mrs. Blair called attention to remarks of former Postmaster General Work and Postmaster General New on postoffice appointments in which, she declared, "they ignored efficiency rating in giving jobs to political henchmen."

"I know that no woman," Mrs. Blair said, "will fail to see the injustice in the treatment of A. P. Davis, scientist and expert, who has given to the government employ, who was ousted as director of reclamation by Secretary Work in order that his job might go to D. W. Davis of Idaho, a politician and grocer. There are other equally vicious acts."

She referred to C. Bascom Slemp, secretary to President Coolidge, as "secretary of patronage."

MUSCLE SHOALS WILL BECOME A FIXED ISSUE

(By The Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Representative Thomas, Democrat, of Oklahoma who recently visited Muscle Shoals, declared in a statement today that if the present administration did not adopt a policy by acceptance of the Ford proposition for the disposition of Muscle Shoals, Congress should declare against the policy of private exploitation of water power development and should declare power development a policy of developing in favor of a policy of developing valuable water power sites for the benefit of the public.

"As slavery was the concrete issue which plunged the states into civil war," Mr. Thomas' statement said, "in order that the constitution might be construed as to the relation of the individual states to the federal government, so is Muscle Shoals rapidly forming the concrete issue, the solution of which will shape the policy of the federal government in regard to the development of water power throughout the United States. In the event the present administration does not adopt a policy by the acceptance of the Ford proposition for the disposition of Muscle Shoals against the Congress should declare against the policy of private exploitation of water power development and should declare in favor of a policy of acquiring, developing and operating valuable water power sites for the use and benefit of the public."

TOBACCO IS RECEIVING GOVERNMENT ATTENTION

The United States department of agriculture has found the growth of the tobacco business sufficiently important to warrant issuing a special bulletin about four times the length of those usually sent to newspapers. Its significant statement is that production and consumption of tobacco show an increase.

Larger production from each acre of land devoted to this plant is being secured through the studies of the department's agents. Various diseases which affect the growth have been investigated and in some instances, methods of controlling these have been developed. By new findings in the science of plant breeding, the quality of leaf and the yield have been improved. Methods of curing have also been changed for the better.

When an investors' service in its weekly notice to clients predicts that the crop will exceed last year's by 100,000,000 pounds, it ought to be fairly plain that the traffic runs into money. As a matter of fact it does, for the government reports 69,800,000,000 of cigarettes produced annually in the United States, more than ten times the number made in 1895. This demand has had an influence on the kind of tobacco raised for the cigarette markets and is an important factor in the trade. That the whole question is receiving attention from others than the government and commercial interests is shown in a scientific study, of the effects of tobacco in the current issue of the New Republic, purporting to show that cigarette smoking is the least harmful of all forms of which may be expected to elicit rejoinders from those who enjoy the pipe and cigar and would particularly like to see the cigarette eliminated.

SPECIAL GRAND JURY IS UNABLE TO FIX IDENTITY

(By The Associated Press.)

KING AND QUEEN C. H., Va., Oct. 25.—The special grand jury called to investigate the lynching here October 12 of Horace Carter, negro, reported late today that it was unable to fix the identity of any members of the mob which took the negro away from the officers and shot him to death. The jury, which had called and examined fifty witnesses while in session four days in an effort to fix responsibility for the killing, was then dismissed.

Carter, at the time of the lynching, was in charge of officers who had arrested him on a charge of having attacked a white woman in this county nearly a year ago.
