Red Deer

Sheldon Rowe's distinct style as Superintendent is best described as collaborative. When credit is handed out, the leader of Peace Wapiti Public School Division No. 76 (PWSD) is known to thank his staff and leadership team regularly.

Nominated by Dana McIntosh, Board Chair of PWSD, Dana says Sheldon is a calming force who gets things done. "Sheldon is level-headed, looks at things differently and operates with a sense of humor. His constant acknowledgement of his senior staff meant a smooth-running organization which benefited the whole division."

His award is for making a Special Contribution to Public Education, a category the Public School Boards' Association of Alberta holds for leaders like Sheldon who build competency within and for his staff and teachers.

Superintendent Sheldon Rowe has been a proactive and positive influence in Public Education for over 37 years, all of which have been with PWSD.

Sheldon's contribution to Public Education was recognized in Red Deer at the Public School Boards' Association of Alberta's Spring General Assembly on Saturday, June 2nd, 2018.
