“Love people, use things; not the other way around,” Joshua Fields Millburn reminds us in Minimalism: A Documentary About the Important Things. While many of the messages in One Earth Film Festival’s 2017 films urge minimizing the extraction and exploitation of the earth’s resources -- and with it, the habits of overconsumption -- there is also the message of maximizing: of maximizing the power of people to come together, to create solutions, to take action.

Amidst unprecedented challenges to our environment and the policies and institutions that protect it, the 6th annual One Earth Film Festival celebrates the resiliency of people and planet. It looks to examine the ethic of disposability embedded in our get-and-spend, throwaway culture, our culture of too many things. It looks to shine a light on the concerning extension of that culture into seeing people – into seeing one another -- as disposable.

Join us as we welcome over a dozen filmmakers, whose behind-the-lens activism can help build and strengthen our own environmental advocacy. Join us as we utilize Conservation International’s virtual reality short films to make real the challenges faced by our ecosystems, from forest to reef, so we can make real our responses to those challenges. Join us as we celebrate youth as young filmmakers, and as important actors in helping us rewrite the story of disposability into a story of regeneration.

Over these next 9 days, we come together as dozens of neighborhoods and communities throughout Chicago and its surrounding counties, in a concrete expression of the power of people -- to become inspired, to become connected, and to become committed to making our world -- our common home -- a more resilient place.

ONE EARTH’S YOUNG FILMMAKERS CONTEST: Winner screenings & Awards

Winning films will premiere and student prizes will be awarded to participants, ages elementary through college. Themes include wildlife, water pollution, soil erosion and deforestation. Before and after the event, young and old alike may experiment with iPad stop-motion video work stations provided by Steve & Kate’s Camp. Children and teens encouraged to attend.

Saturday 3/4, 3 PM ⑤ *
Columbia College Music Center, 1014 S. Michigan Ave, Chicago
Great for YOUTH, TEENS, FAMILIES!
Stay for the reception to celebrate young filmmakers, enjoy food + drink, and experience the Midwest premiere of Conservation International’s virtual reality short films, Under the Canopy and Valen’s Reef. Facilitator: Sue Crothers, River Forest Sustainability Commission & Founding Director, Young Filmmakers Contest.

Sunday 3/5, 6:15 PM ⑫ *
Old St. Patrick’s Church, Hughes Hall, 700 W Adams St, Chicago
Old St. Pat’s Creation Care Team will partner with the United Nations Association to host post-film discussions on the urgency of climate refugees and the realities we are facing as a human family in terms of food access, water resources, and clean energy. Facilitators include leaders in urban agriculture and farming, waterways and the Great Lakes region, and wind and solar companies. Together we will dialog, answer questions, and share resources for taking concrete individual and collective action on climate change, both globally and locally. Refreshments will be served with cash bar. Facilitator: Rachel Lyons, Organizer, Mission for Social Justice, Old St. Patrick’s Church.

THE AGE OF CONSEQUENCES (2016, 80 min) Filmmaker: Jared P. Scott

CHICAGO-AREA PREMIERE! The investigation of climate change impacts on resource scarcity, migration, and conflict through the lens of national security and global stability. Whether a long-term vulnerability or sudden shock, the film unpacks how water and food shortages, extreme weather, drought, and sea-level rise function as accelerants of instability and catalysts for conflict. Left unchecked, these threats and risks will continue to grow in scale and frequency, with grave implications for peace and security in the 21st century. Not recommended for children. Heavy themes and disturbing images.

Saturday 3/4, 3 PM ① *
Institute of Cultural Affairs, 4750 N Sheridan Rd, Chicago
Stay after the film for a discussion on climate change and international relations. Learn about local resilience efforts taking place and how you could get involved. Light snacks and refreshments will be served. Facilitator: Samantha Sainsbury, Program Coordinator, Institute of Cultural Affairs.

Sunday 3/5, 6:15 PM ⑫ *
Old St. Patrick’s Church, Hughes Hall, 700 W Adams St, Chicago
Old St. Pat’s Creation Care Team will partner with the United Nations Association to host post-film discussions on the urgency of climate refugees and the realities we are facing as a human family in terms of food access, water resources, and clean energy. Facilitators include leaders in urban agriculture and farming, waterways and the Great Lakes region, and wind and solar companies. Refreshments will be served with cash bar. Facilitator: Rachel Lyons, Organizer, Mission for Social Justice, Old St. Patrick’s Church.
In the center of the Pacific Ocean Gyre, our researchers found more plastic than plankton. A Plastic Ocean documents the newest science, proving how plastics, once they enter the oceans, break up into small particulates that enter the food chain where they attract toxins like a magnet. These toxins are stored in seafood's fatty tissues, and eventually consumed by us. Some images may be disturbing to younger viewers.

Friday 3/10, 6:30 PM ▲
College of Lake County, Building A Auditorium, 19351 W. Washington St., Grayslake
Pre and Post-Film: Join us at 5:30P and also after the film, for Conservation International’s unique virtual reality short film, Valen’s Reef, filmed in the waters of eastern Indonesia’s Bird’s Head region.
Join a representative from Shedd Aquarium and local plastic bag activist, Abby Goldberg at the action resource fair. Contribute to creating plastic sculptures that tell the story of our throw-away culture; see how a filmmaker uses humor to change plastic bag behavior.

A SMALL GOOD THING (2015, 71 min) Filmmakers: Pamela Tanner Boll, Paula Kirk

CHICAGO AREA PREMIERE! For the longest time, we’ve been living as though the more we have—the more money, the more goods, the more territory—the happier we’ll be. Surprisingly, over the last fifty years as our standard of living has improved, our happiness has not. A Small Good Thing examines how our ideal of the American Dream has come to the end of its promise. The film tells the stories of people moving away from a philosophy of “more is better” toward a more holistic conception of happiness—one based on a close connection to their bodies and health, to the natural world, and to the greater good. Teens encouraged to attend. Some heavy themes and images may be disturbing to younger viewers.

Sunday 3/5, 12:30 PM ●
St. Giles Cath. Church, McDonough Hall, 2nd Floor, 1101 Columbian Ave, Oak Park
Join us for a rich discussion after the film with our most visionary thinkers, including Bill McKibben, author on climate change; Jeremy Rifkin on the future of energy; Stephen Cope, director of the Institute for Extraordinary Living at Kripalu; Dacher Keltner, positive psychology researcher; and Kristin Neff, a leading expert on self-compassion. Snacks prepared and presented by young chefs from Sugar Beet Schoolhouse’s cooking classes. Facilitator: Susan Lucci, Professional Trainer & Coach.

AT THE FORK (2016, 90 min) Filmmakers: John Papola, Cristina Colissimo

Filmmaker and omnivore John Papola, together with his vegetarian wife Lisa, offer up a timely and refreshingly unbiased look at how farm animals are raised for our consumption. With unprecedented access to large-scale conventional farms, Papola asks the tough questions behind every hamburger, glass of milk and baby-back rib. What he discovers are not heartless industrialists, but America’s farmers — real people who, along with him, are grappling with the moral dimensions of farming animals for food. May contain some heavy themes and disturbing images.

Saturday 3/4, 2:30 PM ●
Oak Park Public Library, Veterans Rm, 834 Lake St, Oak Park
Join us for a post-film Q&A with Anna Meyer, Food Campaigns Director at Green America. Also hear from the Lissa Dysart at the Sugar Beet Food Coop about ways to make better decisions as a consumer by choosing local and sustainable food. Refreshments will be provided by Quorn. Facilitator: Dorie Blesoff, Green Block co-Founder, Corporate Social Responsibility Advocate.
BEFORE THE FLOOD (2016, 93 min) Filmmakers: Fisher Stevens, Mark Monroe, Leonardo DiCaprio

If you could know the truth about the threat of climate change — would you want to know? Before the Flood, presented by National Geographic, features Leonardo DiCaprio on a journey as a United Nations Messenger of Peace, traveling to five continents and the Arctic to witness climate change firsthand. He goes on expeditions with scientists uncovering the reality of climate change. With unprecedented access to thought leaders around the world, DiCaprio searches for hope in a rising tide of catastrophic news. Hear former President Obama and Pope Francis talk about planet earth. Not recommended for children. Heavy themes and disturbing images.

Saturday 3/11, 6:30 PM
College of Lake County, Building A Auditorium, 19351 W Washington St, Grayslake
Join us after the film to explore what will be our “Paris Treaty” to take action on climate? What could 195 individuals and organizations do if we engage our imaginations and sign-on to s-t-r-e-t-c-h goals? An action resource fair will feature related action opportunities.

CAN YOU DIG THIS? (2015, 84 min) Filmmaker: Delila Vallot

In South Los Angeles, What comes to mind is gangs, drugs, liquor stores, abandoned buildings and vacant lots. Can You Dig This? follows the inspirational journeys of four unlikely gardeners, discovering what happens when they put their hands in the soil. This is not a story of science and economics. This is a story of the human spirit, inspiring people everywhere to pick up their shovels and “plant some shit.” We follow the personal journeys of five ‘gangster gardeners,’ all planting the seeds for a better life. Some strong language. Some heavy themes and disturbing images.

Saturday 3/4, 3 PM
Garfield Park Conservatory, 300 N Central Park Ave, Chicago
Join us for a post film Q&A discussion with local leaders in the growing food movement. Refreshments available.
Facilitator: Mattie Wilson, Sustainability & Adult Programs Manager, Garfield Park Conservatory.

CHICAGO’S TRUE NATURE (2016, 60 min) Filmmaker: Lambrini Lukidis

Like many natural wonders, the Forest Preserves are “hidden in plain sight.” Many are unaware of its vast biodiversity – the flora and fauna of the urban preserves and the diversity of native plants that struggle to flourish against invasive species. Despite living in one of the most densely populated urban areas of the country, Cook County residents are surrounded by nearly 70,000 acres of open space managed by the Forest Preserves. This documentary highlights the conservation and research initiatives, educational programs, volunteer efforts and the wide variety of recreational activities that can be enjoyed right here in Cook County. Not recommended for young children.

Saturday 3/11, 11 AM
Thatcher Pavilion, 8030 Chicago Ave, River Forest
Join us for a rich discussion bridging themes of our local Chicago-area forests with those of our global, “intact,” Great Forests around the world, with Sue Dombro, Director of the Forest Preserves of Cook County’s Trailside Museum, as well as Dr. Ashwin Ravikumar of the Field Museum.
Facilitator: Susan Lucci, Professional Trainer & Coach.

Sunday 3/12, 1 PM
(21 min, Paired with NaturePlay)
St. James Wabash, 2907 S. Wabash Ave, Chicago
Please stay for post-film discussions with Douglas Stotz, Senior Conservation Ecologist at the Field Museum, who will address themes of both our local “great forests” in our Forest Preserves as well as the themes of our global great forests. Facilitator: Pam Bergdall, Local & International Facilitator, Institute of Cultural Affairs.
CRYING EARTH RISE UP (2015, 57 min) Filmmakers: Suree Towfighnia, Reuben Cruz

When Debra White Plume’s drinking water tests high for radiation, she sets out to determine the cause. What she finds alarms her. A nearby uranium mining operation is extracting ore from deep in the ground by tapping the High Plains/Ogallala Aquifer, a huge underground cache of water covering 174,000 square miles from Texas to South Dakota which supplies drinking water to 82 percent of the people who live within the aquifer boundary. The mine’s planned expansion further threatens the aquifer. May contain heavy themes and disturbing images.

DEATH BY DESIGN (2016, 74 min) Filmmaker: Sue Williams

CHICAGO-AREA PREMIERE! What is the cost of our digital dependency? Death by Design, a feature length documentary, explores this question and uncovers a global story of damaged lives, environmental destruction and devices that are designed to die. Older children (accompanied by an adult) and teens encouraged to attend.

Wednesday 3/8, 7 PM
Northwestern University, McCormick Auditorium, Norris University Center, 1999 Campus Drive, Evanston.

Julie Cahillane, Northwestern University’s Manager of Sustainability and Resource Management, will provide information about how to responsibly recycle electronics locally. Light refreshments will be served. Facilitator: Tom Cushing, Attorney & Sustainability Consultant.

DIVE! (2009, 53 min) Filmmaker: Jeremy Seifert

Inspired by a curiosity about our country’s careless habit of sending food straight to landfills, the multi award-winning documentary DIVE! follows filmmaker Jeremy Seifert and friends as they dumpster dive in the back alleys and gated garbage receptacles of Los Angeles’ supermarkets. In the process, they salvage thousands of dollars worth of good, edible food - resulting in an inspiring documentary that is equal parts entertainment, guerilla journalism and call to action. Food and drink available for purchase. Older children and teens (accompanied by an adult) encouraged to attend.

Sunday 3/12, 12:30 PM
Haymarket Pub & Brewery, 737 W. Randolph St, Chicago, View + Brew Screening!
Join us for a post-film Q&A with local organizations working on issues of hunger and food waste, including Jen Nelson from the Illinois Food Scrap Coalition and the EPA’s Food Too Good to Waste campaign; Monica Ginsburg, Marketing Manager, Zero Percent; Breanne Ward, Delivery Manager, Zero Percent; and Lauren Draftz, Programming and Volunteer Coordinator, Oak Park River Forest Food Pantry. Q&A partners will also share about concrete actions you can take now to help reduce the problem of food waste in the United States. Food and drink available for purchase. Facilitator: Susan Lucci, Professional Trainer & Coach.
FAMILY & CHILDREN’S FILMS

Along with short film screenings, families and youth will learn about opportunities for connecting with local nature through Go Green Oak Park, The Frog Lady (who will bring her reptile friends), the Park District of Oak Park/Austin Gardens Nature Center, and the Forest Preserve District of Cook County’s Trailside Museum. Light refreshments will be served.

Saturday 3/4, 9:30 AM 🌱 For Families & Children (3-8+)
Oak Park Public Library, Veterans Rm, 834 Lake St, Oak Park

“Habits!”
Join us for a morning of sing-a-longs about animals in their habitats, plus short films Slugs and Bugs, and Kid of the Wild.

Saturday 3/4, 10:30 AM 🌱 For Families & Youth (9-13+)
Oak Park Public Library, Veterans Rm, 834 Lake St, Oak Park

“Activist Kids”
Join us for a screening of short films Stories of Trust: California and Stories of Trust: Arizona, featuring remarkable plaintiffs from the first-ever landmark US climate youth lawsuit. Afterwards, local teen Elise Pope will share stories of her outback camping experiences in Canada, and teen Ovya Ganesan will share about her experience as the youngest member of the Oak Park Energy + Environment Commission. Both youngsters will address how connecting to nature is one piece to unlocking youth activism. Facilitator: Wendy Negro, Child Educator

FOOD FRONTIERS (2016, 36 min) Filmmaker: Leo Horrigan (Paired with “Power to the Pedals”)

CHICAGO-AREA PREMIERE! Food Frontiers showcases six projects from around the United States that are increasing access to healthy food in varied ways – from a pioneering farm-to-school project to creative supermarket financing to cooking classes in a doctor’s office and a teen-managed grocery store. Co-presented by the Hyde Park Chamber of Commerce and the South East Chicago Commission.

Screening paired with Chicago-area premiere Power to the Pedals.

CHICAGO AREA PREMIERE! The film portrays the transformative vision and extraordinary efforts of Wenzday Jane, a woman whose mechanical skills and innovative actions are reshaping her community. Wenzday goes to the heart of the sustainability issue by offering solutions, and suggests that things don’t have to be the way they are. Raised in public housing, Wenzday discovered the bicycle. Now a self-taught innovator and revolutionary community leader, she heads an urban movement to replace trucks with cargo bicycles for local delivery, municipal waste-hauling for the city of Cambridge, and agricultural distribution. Co-presented by the Hyde Park Chamber of Commerce and the South East Chicago Commission.

Screening paired with Chicago-area premiere Food Frontiers.

SEED: THE UNTOLD STORY (2016, 93 min) Filmmakers: Jon Betz, Taggart Siege

Few things on Earth are as miraculous and vital as seeds. Worshipped and treasured since the dawn of humankind, these subtle flecks of life are the source of all existence. Like tiny time capsules, they contain the songs, sustenance, memories, and medicines of entire cultures. They feed us, clothe us, and provide the raw materials for our everyday lives. In a very real sense, they are life itself. Yet in our modern world, these precious gifts of nature are in grave danger. Older children (accompanied by an adult) and teens welcome.

Monday 3/6, 6:30 PM
North Shore Country Day School, 310 Green Bay Rd, Winnetka

After the film, Kristie Webber from Chicago Botanic Garden will share seeds and basic how-tos on seed saving, and Jeanne Nolan, The Organic Gardener, will offer ideas for promoting biodiversity in your home garden. Facilitator: Jim Troxel, Facilitator & Board Chair, Institute of Cultural Affairs.

SHARK LOVES THE AMAZON (2012, 60 min) Filmmakers: Cidney Hue, Adrian Vásquez de Velasco, Mark London

CHICAGO AREA PREMIERE! After 30 years of experience in the Amazon, author and lawyer Mark London shares a unique perspective on an issue with global consequences: Can twenty-one million people and the rainforest share the same space? With levels of deforestation approaching the point of no return at an alarming rate, London poses a provocative alternative to the age-old mantra, “leave the forest untouched.” Some heavy themes and disturbing images.

After the program, enjoy Conservation International’s virtual reality short film, Under the Canopy.

Saturday 3/11, 10 AM
Harper Theater, 5238 S Harper Ave, Chicago. Tickets for this screening are $4.

TIERRALISMO (2014, 60 min) Filmmaker: Alejandro Ramirez Anderson (Spanish with English Subtitles)

On the outskirts of Havana, sandwiched between highways and public housing, a revolution is taking place. Here, in the district of Alamar, a 26-acre farming co-op provides employment for dozens of workers, while producing vegetables and medicinal plants for the local community and beyond. What began as necessity—farming without pesticides and chemical fertilizers—has become a source of provision to coop members. They fertilize with compost and cow manure, raise their own insects for biological pest control, and have even created a fully biodegradable alternative to the plastic bag for use with seedlings. Teens encouraged to attend.

Saturday 3/11, 12 PM
Lincoln United Methodist Church, 2242 S Damen Ave, Chicago
Please join Filmmaker and Director of Tierralismo, Alexandra Holkin, as well as Jolin Lozano, Curriculum Coordinator for Lincoln United Methodist Church Educational Trip to Cuba, Saúl Ariano, Youth Leader, and Pastor Emma Luzano, Director of LUMC for an informative post-film discussion.
