

POLICE LEADER PACKS TO GO TO LONDON SCHOOL

Chicago Tribune (1963-Current file); Jan 7, 1966;
ProQuest Historical Newspapers Chicago Tribune (1849 - 1988)

pg. 2

POLICE LEADER
PACKS TO GO TO LONDON SCHOOL

(Picture on back page)

Capt. Patrick V. Needham of the Chicago police department will leave tomorrow afternoon for England to attend the Bramshill police college near London.

Capt. Needham, director of the police records and communications division, will be the first American law enforcement official ever to attend the school. The police college offers a six-month course of advanced training for future leaders in British police service.

[TRIBUNE Staff Photo]

Police Capt. Patrick Needham pictured with wife and children, Tommy, 6; Kevin, 8; John, 5; Mary, 2; and Jeannette, 1, will depart tomorrow for London where he will have six weeks of British police training. (Story on page 3)

Reproduced with permission of the copyright owner. Further reproduction prohibited without permission.