About the beer...

OK, what do you get when we toss pale malted barley, pumpkin and spices into a stainless steel cauldron then stir in some magic? Trickster! The "magic" is actually mischievous Belgian yeast at play with cardamom, nutmeg and coriander. This spooky cool brew will make your glass glow bright despite the gloominess of the season.

Designed to conjure up a little amusement during the darkening days of autumn, Trickster is a frivolous concoction of earthy pumpkin, comforting malt, and lively spices. This makes Trickster the brew to accompany fun-spirited autumn activities: family gatherings, poker parties, sit-and-knit nights, ghost stories, supposedly-haunted garage parties, cooking marathons, and lazy pajama days.

The flavor range of Trickster also pairs well with citrusy and spicy cuisines. Try a glowing glass with your favorite dishes that incorporate nutmeg, cardamom or coriander—like Thai curries, Swedish meatballs, gingerbread, roasted pumpkin soup. Add Trickster to your soups and sauces, batters and doughs, and—of course—glasses and mugs.

This be your new brew, Boo!
