ART EXHIBITION HIGHLIGHTS ABANDONED TREASURES OF THE PACIFIC NORTHWEST AND BEYOND!

Lake Oswego, Oregon – The Arts Council of Lake Oswego is excited to present the exhibition, Abandoned, Images of What Remains at their ARTspace Gallery, located in the Lake Oswego City Hall building, 380 A Avenue, Suite A, Lake Oswego. The display will be on view from September 3 through October 29, 2021.

The west coast of America has a unique history – from Indigenous Peoples, early frontier days and the Oregon Trail, to the boom and bust industries of logging, mining, and agriculture. As a result, the landscape is dotted with abandoned sites and structures. Once thriving and burgeoning, these now discarded, neglected places bear the mark of past human presence.

“The call for art and theme for this exhibition was inspired by having lived in boom and bust towns of New Mexico and Colorado near abandoned mines and ghost towns. I enjoyed exploring and learning their history. There’s something so hauntingly beautiful about an empty house that used to be someone’s home standing alone on the landscape. Many other people share this fascination and create artistic images of what they see and how it makes them feel. There are several Facebook groups and Instagram tags dedicated to abandoned places around the west. I think it’s great that people share their explorations and, in turn, share some forgotten history,” Stephanie Johnson, Public Art and Program Manager stated.
This exhibition features 45 artists from around the Western region with about 90 works of art in various mediums including photography, paint, ink, collage, and 3-d works. The submissions received are diverse in their interpretation of the theme, and include images of abandoned roads, mills, ghost towns, derelict houses, and old cars. All work will be available for sale.

The public is invited to an opening reception on Friday, September 10, from 5:30 to 7:00 p.m. Participating artists will be on hand to talk about their process and what attracted them to these distinctive sites.

Visitors are welcome to visit the ARTspace Gallery Tuesday through Friday from 10 to 5 p.m. Visit www.artscouncillo.org for more information and COVID-related safety measures.
