Celebrating arts, culture, letters and scholarship

Also taking place in another part of the city's canyons that night:

Promoting the well being of New Yorkers over age 60, supporters of the Carter Burden Network gathered at the Mandarin Hotel for cocktails, dinner, and a "Beauty At Any Age" fashion show.

Founded by former City Council member Carter Burden in 1971, the Network provides a continuum of services, advocacy, arts and culture and volunteer programs to fight isolation among aging New Yorkers with love and belonging. Susan Burden and William Goldman, Margaret and Ian Smith co-chaired the gala.

Randy Glick, President, GPG Properties, 2018 Business Leadership Honoree; Jason Glick, Managing Partner, GPG Properties, 2018 Business Leadership Honoree; Jeffrey A. Weber, Board Chair, Carter Burden Network and Gala Honorary Chair; Stacey Gillis Weber, Gala Honorary Chair; William J. Dionne, Executive Director, Carter Burden Network; and Ben Kallos, New York City Council Member.

The Glick Family/GPG Properties/Mautner-Glick Corporation was the evening's honoree, and three generations of the Glick family, Alvin, his son Randy, and grandson Jason were cited for the firm's ongoing support and compassion for the elderly in need. The Network's original offices and new headquarters are located in GPG buildings.

Tables were set with sewing box centerpieces representing the CBN's "Clothing Construction" activities, and senior participants modeled ensembles they had made in CBN's sewing room.

Other activities in the Network's seven locations include a senior luncheon club, caregiver resource programs, health and wellness programs, elder mistreatment and abuse prevention, and a Chelsea gallery which exhibits work produced by senior artists. — Sharon King Hoge
