

To Whom It May Concern

Matt Gormly worked with us on Outback Truckers 8 from November 2019 to January 2020 as a Shooter/Director. Matt put in the work before his first Outback Truckers shoot to ensure that he was across the style of the series and after a being briefed by the Series Producer, he hit the ground running.

He was always professional and reliable, and fitted in so well from that first shoot it was as if he had been on our crew for years. As the Production Manager, I knew I could rely on Matt to keep the office in the loop when out on the road and felt secure that he had the safety of his crew and the best interests of the show top of mind at all times.

Outback Truckers is not an easy job and as the Shooter/Director you are in the cab with the truckie, day in and day out, crafting stories from whatever may unfold on the road. Matt had the experience to think on his feet and always came back with the story in the bag.

His camera work and directing skills are of a high level and he proved his versatility and ability to adapt to changing circumstances on each shoot.

The Executive Producer and Series Producer both commented on the high level of his work and requested that, should the COVID pandemic travel restrictions allow, we contract Matt again. Personally, I enjoyed having Matt on the crew and would recommend him to any future production.
