HAMILTON – The New Jersey Builders Association (NJBA) has announced George Vallone of Hoboken Brownstone Co. was installed as president of the New Jersey Builders Association (NJBA) on March 24th at the 66th annual Atlantic Builders Convention (ABC) in Atlantic City, New Jersey. A few weeks later, Jersey City Mayor Steven Fulop honored Vallone with a mock installation at Jersey City City Hall.

“I am honored to serve as President of NJBA. I and the other Elected Officers for 2015 are dedicated to putting builders back to work and putting families into homes across New Jersey,” said Vallone. “Our industry has made great strides since the recession and I’m looking forward to building upon that growth. I’m very proud of my company’s Hoboken roots and I’m honored that Mayor Fulop has invited me for a mock installation in City Hall.”

“George Vallone is a true leader in NJBA and we are confident that the association, its members and the construction industry will prosper under his leadership,” said NJBA CEO Carol Ann Short, Esq.

Installed along with Vallone at the ABC were the 2015 NJBA elected officers: Vice President Dwight Pittenger, Pittenger Builders; Treasurer John Kirkenir, Alliance Homes, LLC;. Secretary Tomas Troy, Sharbell Development Corp.; Builder Vice President Cory Wescoe, Pulte Group; Associate Vice President Jeanne Tomlinson, Sears Commercial; Second Associate Vice President John Healey, Pella Windows & Doors.

About the New Jersey Builders Association

NJBA is a housing industry trade association of builders, developers, remodelers, subcontractors, suppliers, engineers, architects, consultants and other professionals dedicated to meeting the housing needs of all New Jersey residents and facilitating their realization of the American Dream. NJBA serves as a resource for its members through continuing education and advocacy. NJBA and its members strive for a better, greener, more affordable housing market in New Jersey.
