Love Love Relief Fund

Who will tell the story of this time?

This is a question we’ve been asking here at Local. As a team dedicated to the discovery, development and production of new American plays, we champion stories that speak to the time we are living in. We proudly share them with the Colorado community, and we take this role very seriously. In order to continue hiring the hundreds of theater artists, administrators, and technicians necessary to tell these stories, WE NEED YOUR HELP. We are proud to introduce the LOCAL LOVE RELIEF FUND. Your donation ensures that Local Theater Company will:

- Sustain basic operations during this period of uncertainty
- Invest in new technology to live stream classes and events this spring and in the future
- Continue to employ creative professionals

In this time of social isolation, the human instinct to gather has never been more apparent. When the lights come back on, and the theaters fill again (and they will), what new stories will we tell?

With your support we will answer this question together.
