Professional Development

Training for Educators by Educators

The one-on-one support that educators need, when they need it

+ The structure that allows new competencies to be learned, recognized, and rewarded

- Courses are designed to be completed in 3 weeks and are worth 15-clock hours towards recertification, eligible for college credit
- Courses are facilitated by experienced accredited practitioners, who offer coaching that is supported by digital content focused on specific problems of practice and project-based work
- Learning progressions through programs guide educators through customized pathways from introductory through advanced levels of knowledge and experience, meeting the instructional needs of educators.
- Participants receive real-time support and can control when and what to learn, contacting facilitators via phone, email and text, and accessing digital content and learning communities
- All courses are university accredited. Each course worth 1 college credit.
- Onsite workshops available upon request

The program delivery and design models student-centered instructional practices, allowing learners to experience innovative learning environments.
