Wildfire Community Preparedness FIRE SEASON PERSONAL DISASTER TIPS

With Fire Season approaching, it is important to review your 72-Hour Emergency Home and Travel Preparedness Kit. This tool gives you a listing of essential supplies, tailored to meet the basic survival needs for a period of 72-hours during or after a disaster. The kit will also help prepare you, your coworkers and family for an emergency lasting up to 72-hours. Take just a few minutes to review the list and be prepared! For more information Link to the New Mexico Fire Information: <http://nmfireinfo.com/>. The website provides information and links related to fire and restrictions.

Remember the 3 Steps:

Step 1

Have a Plan

Know whether you live in an evacuation zone or not. If so, make plans to evacuate. Know where you will go and how to get there. If you do not live in an evacuation zone, plan to shelter from the incident. The 72-Hour Emergency Home and Travel Preparedness Kit can be viewed here.

Step 2

Build an Emergency Kit

Prepare enough supplies for 3 to 7 days. Include non-perishable food, drinking water, first aid kit and essential toiletries. Don't forget medications, cash, flashlight with extra batteries and a weather radio. For a recommended list, click here
