You care about the food you eat.
So do we.

Food Animal Concerns Trust (FACT) expands safe and humanely raised food options by supporting humane farmers and advocating against antibiotic overuse and harmful drugs in farm animals.

Our Humane Farming Program invests in family farmers seeking to raise their animals humanely by providing them with grants, scholarships, mentorship, and webinars. FACT has directly assisted more than 1,338 farmers through our infrastructure improvement and training opportunities. Grants have been awarded to 141 deserving farmers, across 34 states, directly impacting more than 97,000 animals.

Our Food Safety Program advocates for stronger corporate and federal policies that eliminate veterinary drugs known to be harmful to consumers, along with the overuse of antibiotics on farms. FACT has made significant progress in helping to persuade major fast food chains to commit to serving meat produced with fewer antibiotics. FACT also succeeded in getting the FDA to prohibit arsenic based veterinary drugs, and is working to convince the FDA to eliminate the known carcinogen carbadox from pork.

97% of surveyed farmers who received a FACT grant reported improved farm animal welfare.

FACT is a national 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization headquartered in Chicago with 35 years of experience.
Eating Healthy and Humane

Shopping at the Farmers Market

It can be difficult to find humane and ecologically sound food. By asking questions at the Farmers Market, you can learn more about your food, and make a personal connection with your farmer.

- Do your animals have access to well-managed pasture?
- What do you feed your animals?
- Do you use antibiotics, hormones, or any growth promoters?
- Is your farm certified? If so, which certification?

Keep an Eye Out for Labels

FACT Recommended and Third Party Verified

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>global animal partnership</th>
<th>CERTIFIED HUMANE RAISED &amp; HANDLED</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>g  a  p</td>
<td>AWA</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>USDA ORGANIC</td>
<td>NATURALLY GROWN</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Recommended with caveats

Many More Resources

FACT offers links to learn more about which restaurants serve meat without antibiotics, tips for finding a CSA (Community Supported Agriculture) program, and explanations on our humane principles.

If you are passionate about food issues, FACT sends out a monthly newsletter with updates and links on food policy so that you can easily get in touch with your legislators and make your voice heard.

You can support safe and humane food by sharing info on social media (follow us on Twitter, Facebook, and Instagram), signing up to volunteer, or donating online.

www.foodanimalconcernstrust.org