

Hello Alan,

Jimmy Sechrest here, we spoke on the phone last week when you responded to my inquiry about the Biocence products you offer on Amazon.

I received my order of the spray last Friday and on Monday I had my first skin flare up in 7 months. I applied the Biocence before the boil came to the surface on Monday evening before I went to bed. I woke up Tuesday and had forgot all about the flare up because it was no longer itching and had reduced in size to a bump that I could barley feel. I decided not to apply anymore just so I could track it's progression. Today is Thursday Nov. 4th and the boil is only noticeable visually. No itching, no bump, just a small red blemish.

Once again, thank you and your co-workers for the great bio based products you have developed. It is great to know that you all are progressing science using natural materials instead of synthetically derived materials to help humanity solely for the the purpose of helping instead of being motivated only by the dollar return you could potentially see. You all are truly the type of people I wish to surround myself with and your intentions are really inspirational.

You had mentioned that if I forward you my address that you would send a bottle of the nasal spray. I would like to offer a payment of some sort to help with shipping and make the energy exchange balanced, if the offer is still there. If not, I be patient and wait for the nasal spray to be offered on Amazon.

I hope we get a chance to meet face-to-face someday so I can always be able to put a face to the voice I heard on the phone and have the opportunity to thank you in person for such a life changing bio-based product.

I wish you all the best with life, love, happiness and the ever present goal of oneness,

Jimmy Sechrest
