St. Nicks Alliance (SNA) transforms lives through employment, education, housing and health care by delivering impactful services with measurable outcomes to children, adults and the elderly. As a civic anchor, we carry out this mission within the context of building a community for all people. As we look back on 2019 and forward to 2020, we see that:

- North Brooklyn residents look to SNA annually when they need help.
- 17,000 tenants live in affordable housing built or managed by SNA.
- 5,800 seniors receive senior center, homecare and/or housing services.
- 8,000 North Brooklyn youth and families are served by 16 afterschool centers, 3 community schools, 3 community centers and 7 high schools.
- 1,218 adults and young adults obtained living wage jobs in Construction, Technology, and Community Health or made educational progress.
- 1,489 youth completed internships and service learning over 225,000 hours of career building experience and earned $3.15 million in wages.

As we begin our 43rd year, we remain ready to take on new challenges. The founders took on the challenge of revitalizing a North Brooklyn neighborhood beset by property abandonment, crime, redlining, and the loss of manufacturing jobs. As the neighborhood stabilized and the economy grew beyond anyone’s expectations, the market forces that brought many positives put new pressures on the most vulnerable families into homelessness. New challenges required new solutions.

Significant numbers of adults could not find work despite a construction boom. There were an alarming escalation of illegal evictions and pushing families into homelessness. New challenges required new solutions.

As a civic anchor, we carry out this mission within the context of building a community for all people. As we look back on the last two years, we see that: New School Settlement Community Center in a neighborhood where four 3,300 children and youth attend summer camps each year. SNA afterschool centers showed truly remarkable improvement in reading and report card grades.

St. Nicks Alliance launched its NABE 3.0 Initiative in 2014 creating new models to achieve measurable outcomes. NABE 3.0 integrated Education, Workforce, and Housing services producing dramatic results.

Ensuring permanent affordability. In NABE 3.0 afterschool centers, students were built while additional units were acquired, refinanced and renovated, Hundreds of illegal evictions were prevented. New affordable housing was built while additional units were acquired, refinanced and renovated, Hundreds of illegal evictions were prevented. New affordable housing.

In SNA by the Numbers:

- $3.15 million in wages
- 1,218 adults and young adults obtained living wage jobs in Construction, Technology, and Community Health or made educational progress
- 1,500 seniors receive senior center, homecare and/or housing services
- 5,800 tenants live in affordable housing built or managed by SNA
- 8,000 North Brooklyn youth and families are served by 16 afterschool centers, 3 community schools, 3 community centers and 7 high schools
- Ainslie Street. We are grateful to all the seniors, children and parents, elected officials, concerned residents, the Conselyea Block Association and other community groups who joined us in the courts and on the streets.

Measuring Success
“Shared Effect … Greater Impact”

The years 2018 and 2019 brought with them truly amazing developments for St. Nicks Alliance (SNA) and The North Brooklyn Community in September 2018, New York City designated St. Nicks Alliance as the co-developer with Hudson Companies to implement a community plan to rebuild the former Greenpoint Campus. When implemented, the plan will produce 500 new affordable apartments, rebuild a 200 bed shelter and construct new community facilities including a long-awaited senior health center.

For 35 years, the Greenpoint Renaissance Enterprise Corp (GREC), a broad-based coalition of community residents and organizations, fought to implement the community’s vision for the Greenpoint Campus. It was these grassroots partners who persevered and will see their dream come true.

In 2019, we learned that the City ended a long-standing land use conflict in the Broadway Triangle, bordering on three neighborhoods – Williamsburg, Bushwick and Bedford-Stuyvesant.

For many years, division among competing entities delayed the development of the Broadway Triangle until collaboration emerged in the form of Unified Neighborhood Partners, an unprecedented development team comprised of St. Nicks Alliance, RiseBoro Community Partnership, Southside United Housing Development Fund Corporation (Los Sures), United Jewish Organizations of Williamsburg (UJO) and Mega Contracting. Together, they assembled a proposal that won the support of the City. As Council Member Antonio Reynoso points outs it so well: “Each organization has deep roots in the community and a legacy of successfully serving the unique needs of their constituents. Together, they assembled a development that is truly reflective of our diverse community needs.”

The importance of partnerships and collaborations is not limited to large scale development but is core to how our “alliance” addresses key community challenges.

In local schools, SNA Youth and Education has forged “embedded partnerships” in School District 14. Through School Success, the organization and its school partners are measuring significant improvement with literacy gains and academic performance.

SNA’s Workforce Center relies upon “anchor partnerships” with employers who commit to hiring young adults and supporting their career track toward high wages and benefits. SNA seeks to replicate its highly successful construction partnership with major developers such as Two Trees Management and Mega Contracting, firms that share a strong desire to create opportunity for disadvantaged young adults. By hiring our training graduates, they offer long-term opportunity.

Working with United Neighbors Organization (UNO), SNA mobilized tenants and working-class New Yorkers on an 18-month campaign that included fifteen local rallies and five trips to Albany and yielded legislation calling for dramatic changes in the laws safeguarding affordable housing and increasing renters’ rights and security. Thousands of rent stabilized apartments were preserved when Governor Cuomo signed the legislation into law on June 14, 2019.

Whether it be working to maintain or expand the pipeline of employers who provide youth with more than 1,500 internships and 2,700 summer jobs cultivating new partners in the growing industrial/information technology space in Brooklyn or working with NYU Langone to bring a new, critically needed senior health center to the neighborhood, we recognize that partners are the key to breaking down the barriers that prevent North Brooklyn local residents from seeing their dreams come true.

Changing the Way Affordable Housing is Developed

All people have the right to live in affordable, well-maintained housing.

Re-Developing the Greenpoint Hospital Campus

SNA has been designated co-developer to faithfully implement the city-approved community plan to redevelop the Greenpoint Campus adding 500 units of new affordable housing, redeveloping a 200 bed shelter and building a much-needed senior health center in partnership with NYU Langone Family Health Centers.

Partnering to Develop the Broadway Triangle

The battle over the Broadway Triangle yielded a New York City RFP to develop the vacant city-owned land. SNA joined in an unprecedented partnership with Los Sures, RiseBoro, and UJO as Unified Neighborhood Partners to develop 400 units of affordable housing. The five building project will bring affordable housing to low, very low income and homeless families and new retail and community facilities.

Sustaining Affordable Housing

SNA has surpassed a major milestone in building or preserving more than 2,000 units of affordable housing and with 1,700 units under management, ensuring that these critical community assets are well-maintained, financially sound and permanently affordable.

Housing Seniors and Special Needs Individuals and Families

SNA provides safe, affordable apartments and residences for over 500 senior citizens and frail elderly enabling people to live with dignity in a neighborhood they have called home for many years. An additional five hundred formerly homeless individuals and families with a member with HIV/AIDS are provided with supportive housing.

Preventing Homelessness

Each year, SNA Community Preservation provides hundreds of North Brooklyn families facing illegal eviction with concrete support, advocacy and tenant rights education, enabling families to remain in a neighborhood they call home.

Partnering to Sustain Affordability

SNA is a co-founder of The Joint Operating Entity (JOE NYC), a consortium of 11 CDCs who joined together to leverage new capital, expand scale and improve efficiency to permanently preserve affordable housing city-wide.
Emidio

Emidio and his family are long-time residents of 272 Stagg Street, a building that was purchased by a new owner who harassed the six families in residence hoping to get them to vacate the building in preparation for sale. When deteriorating conditions in the building forced two families to move out, Emidio reached out to St. Nicks Alliance and its Community Preservation team for help. Emilio, an auto mechanic by trade describes that conditions had gotten so bad that “When I woke up at 4 AM to go to work, I would throw my shoes into the kitchen to chase the rats.”

With the support of St. Nicks Alliance organizers and UNO, a North Brooklyn grassroots organization that works to prevent displacement of low and moderate income residents, Emidio organized the remaining tenants into a Tenant Association that successfully resisted the landlord’s efforts to force them out in order to convert the building from rent stabilization and eventually sale. The tenants won the support of NYC Department of Housing Preservation and Development who launched a major rehabilitation of 272 Stagg Street. As a result of SNA intervention and Emidio’s leadership, their building will remain rent stabilized. There are no more landlord pressures. Their right to stay in their homes is secure.

“I learned my rights and was inspired to organize my neighbors to save our homes!”

Angela

Angela is a 78 year old woman who resides in a spacious apartment at Monsignor Alexis A. Jarka Hall, a 63 unit affordable senior housing community in Williamsburg. Jarka Hall was renovated and preserved through a unique partnership between The People’s Firehouse and St. Nicks Alliance. As is the case with far too many seniors in North Brooklyn, Angela who worked for many years as a housekeeper, became unable to keep pace with the ever increasing rent in a market rate apartment and lost her home.

Faced with the prospect of becoming homeless, she needed a “miracle”. Angela told us that there have been times in her life when her problems seemed insurmountable and she felt “Dios los bendiga” (“May God Bless You”). She believes that was exactly what happened when she became involved with St. Nicks Alliance.

SNA was able to identify that Angela qualified for a special set aside and an apartment at Monsignor Jarka Hall. Angela now has a permanent home with her rent capped at 30% of income. She describes the best thing about her new home is the “seguridad” that she feels and the presence of a staff person to whom she can turn to when she needs help.

“Dios los bendiga!”
Partnering for Success in School and Beyond

St. Nicks Alliance joined with local schools to create a pathway to School Success through “embedded partnerships”. SNA staff and teachers work together to improve reading and academic outcomes.

Succeeding in School
SNA is the largest provider of year-round afterschool services in North Brooklyn, operating a network of 16 afterschool centers in local schools and community centers and 9 summer camps. 3,000 children benefit from the School Success transformational approach that increases engagement in reading, arts and science. Each week, the BK Story Voyager, the flagship of SNA Literacy, visits schools, community centers and neighborhood events enabling children to share a love of reading.

Ready for Kindergarten
SNA’s Small World Early Childhood Center provides 3-6 year old children and their families with high quality early childhood services in partnership with the Conselyea Street Block Association, ensuring that children enter Kindergarten ready to learn. In 2019, Small World partnered with Nuestros Niños Early Childhood Centers to adapt the School Success model to an early childhood platform. With a grant from The Edith Glick Foundation, Transformational Coaches are supporting children and families to overcome obstacles to success in school.

Navigating Middle School
SNA operates a network of middle school centers and in-school support that includes MS 577, Unity Prep, Beacon Centers at JHS 126 and Grand Street Campus, and a Community School at JHS 126. Middle school students receive year-round youth development, academic support and Transformational Coaching that enables them to succeed in middle school and go on to high school and graduation.

Preparing for College and Career
Career GPS provides students in six local high schools with a pathway to graduation and prepares them for college and career. Each year, 1,500 students successfully complete college preparation, career exploration and internships. 2,700 14-21 year-olds are placed in summer jobs through SNA’s Summer Youth Employment Program (SYEP).
Brendan

A Middle School Success Story

Brendan came to SNA afterschool to improve his school performance. Although considered by his teachers to be very bright, something was holding him back. They were the kind of challenges that too often are a barrier to succeeding in school for many children. SNA’s Transformational Coach and the Afterschool Team put together a plan for Brendan to build solid study habits and grow his confidence.

Brendan attended SNA Summer Camp where he learned to be a leader and mentor younger students. In fact, Brendan joined the school basketball team where he was named team captain and was acknowledged for his sportsmanship and teamwork. Brendan graduated this past June and is currently attending a local charter high school. Brendan’s mom was so pleased with his progress that she presented the SNA team with a “Brendan’s Second Parents” plaque and enrolled her younger son in SNA Afterschool at PS 17.
In 2014, SNA launched NABE 3.0, an innovative, comprehensive model designed to impact poverty by integrating housing, employment and education services. The education strand “School Success” is positively impacting school performance and achieving great outcomes.

Improving Literacy

School Success, the educational strand of NABE 3.0, brought to afterschool an innovative framework to integrate enrichment and visual, performing and digital arts education with an intensive literacy intervention that features an interdisciplinary thematic approach developed by literacy experts. The results have been dramatic.

The results have been dramatic.

Impacting School Performance through School Success

Over a three year period, students in five local public elementary schools who participated in SNA School Success Afterschool Centers showed significant improvement in report card grades and literacy.

Introducing Transformational Practices

School Success benefits all students while providing evidence-based approaches for struggling students. Transformational Coaching in reading and non-cognitive skills enables students to overcome the barriers that prevent them from learning. SNA Transformational Coaches provide 1-1 intensive coaching with students and their families, and work with classroom teachers and SNA afterschool staff to develop strategies that promote success in school.
THE OUTCOMES
St. Nicks Alliance has scaled School Success, to serve 843 students in 5 schools, aligning with like-minded partners, to expand capacity.

SNA Afterschool Centers have seen a dramatic growth in students who exceed ELA performance as contrasted with their schools.

Since 2016, School Success has steadily increased the number of students that exceed ELA class standards.

May
May is a 3rd grade student who needed to master reading.

Working together with Bianca Velez, SNA Afterschool Site Director at PS 147, Ms. Henry, a Transformational Coach, creates a plan that involves the afterschool group leaders and May’s parents. Her parents are learning English and initially had difficulty helping May with homework. Ms. Henry introduced them to a homework help website for bi-lingual parents. This team approach included the day school teacher, reading specialists who together with the intervention and support of the Afterschool Team enabled May to improve her reading and her overall grades.

Through this transformation, May began to consistently complete homework and her grades improved. She was named “Student of the Month” twice and received an award for homework completion. Her reading level also rose throughout this period. May now confidently raises her hand in class and has made friends. May achieved her goal and was promoted to the 4th grade.

“I was promoted to the 4th Grade thanks to SNA Afterschool!”

Training for Sustainable Careers

St. Nicks Alliance Workforce Development is creating partnerships with “Anchor Companies”, major employers who share our commitment to eliminating the barriers that have prevented North Brooklyn young adults and adults from accessing employment and career pathways in in-demand employment sectors including construction, health care and technology.

Training for Careers
SNA worked with anchor partners Two Trees Management, the developer of the Domino Sugar Factory, and Mega Contracting, a prominent developer and contractor to develop the curriculum for Skilled Build, an intensive 7-week training that prepares young adults and adults to obtain construction industry-recognized certification and secure high-paying career track construction jobs. Two Trees has hired 77 Skilled Build graduates and has committed to hiring an additional 40 graduates.

Business Council Engaged
Much of the recent success of SNA’s Workforce Center in training young adults for employment in high demand sectors that have recently bloomed in Brooklyn goes to our “anchor partners” who share a commitment to client success and help develop curriculum. These “anchor partners” have joined with SNA Board members to form a SNA Business Council which provides financial support as well as feedback and access to jobs.

Reconnecting Young Adults
In 2018-19, SNA’s Workforce Center placed 85% of young adults (16-24 year-olds) who completed its innovative construction skills training in sustainable jobs, including SNA local affordable development projects.

Through a partnership with NYC Department of Youth and Community Development, SNA expanded its Train and Earn initiative that connects “disconnected youth” ages 16-21 to sustainable jobs in construction, health care and technology. To date, 258 “disconnected youth” have been trained and re-connected through paid internships (83) and employment (175) in these high demand industries.
Workforce Success

Muchek
A 22 year old, came to the Workforce Center through SNA’s work at Olympus Academy, a transfer school where the Workforce Development Team works to introduce students to the options for skills training and launching sustainable careers in Construction, Technology and Community Health.

“St. Nicks Alliance gave me the training, support and guidance that I needed to land a good job and a better life for my family”

Muchek had a passion for construction work but lacked the skills and certifications needed to secure entry level work. Muchek enrolled in Skilled Build, SNA’s intensive construction skills training program, developed in partnership with Two Trees Management, a major developer in North Brooklyn. He successfully completed the 7-week course with perfect attendance and quickly secured all the necessary certifications.

Muchek resides in Brooklyn and is the father of two young children. He is currently working at Two Trees Management’s Domino Sugar Project in Williamsburg, making $20 per hour.

Andrea
Andrea came to Adult Education at St. Nicks Alliance after having overcome a life of struggle that included the death of her parents at age 16, drug addition, incarceration, mental illness and domestic violence. Somehow Andrea overcame these obstacles. What remained was the one she had been unable to overcome. She dreamt of becoming a rehabilitation counselor but had never graduated high school. Andrea came to Adult Education determined to complete her High School Equivalency. She failed to sit for the HSE exam on several occasions. With a great deal of support from teachers, staff and the Adult Education Director, a plan was developed to provide Andrea with 1-1 adult education tutoring and support that even included Christmas Day Test Preparation.

Andrea passed the exam on her very next try. Currently, she works as a certified Addiction Recovery Coach and has attained ten years of sobriety.

Ensuring a Vibrant, Safer Life for Seniors

St. Nicks Alliance Elder Care provides 1,500 seniors with affordable housing, in-home care, assisted living and a vibrant senior center that allow seniors to enjoy their golden years in the neighborhood they call home.

Preserving a Neighborhood Institution for Seniors
SNA joined with the Conselyea Street Block Association and community residents and leaders to create a miracle at 211 Ainslie Street. In 2018, this coalition ended a three-year struggle to purchase the site as a permanent home for the Swinging Sixties Senior Center and Small World Early Childhood Center. Today and beyond, the Swinging Sixties Senior center will remain a hub for recreational and social activity for neighborhood seniors. Through a generous anonymous contribution, SNA purchased a mini-bus to transport seniors with travel limitations to attend Swinging Sixties. Needless to say the Senior Bus is fully subscribed.

Caring for Senior at Home
For 800 seniors who need some assistance with daily activities, SNA Home Attendants provide help with grooming, cooking, feeding, medication, reminders and escorting and above all caring and companionship.

Providing Affordable Senior Housing
Whether in SNA residences at Jennings Hall, Monsignor Vetro Apartment, Metropolitan Houses, GABS Senior Housing or Ellery Court, 500 seniors live in safe, affordable housing and are able to call North Brooklyn home.

Offering Assisted Living
For seniors who need help with activities of daily living but want an apartment of their own, SNA provides assisted living services and supports in a safe, secure environment at Jennings Hall.
Fredesvind (Frida) and Juan are a married couple who reside in Fort Greene and receive home care services from St. Nicks Alliance. They emigrated from Puerto Rico to New York City in 1947, worked through the years and raised a family and are now frail and in need of support. He is 86 and she is 93. Their children live out of state and are unable to care for their parents on a daily basis. Along with their advanced age and multiple medical conditions, the services of a Person Care Assistant were needed to help them with their activities of daily living.

Two years ago, Mirna Diaz, a 19 year veteran of St. Nicks Alliance Home Care, was assigned to work with the couple. Their health was suffering due to being unable to keep track of their medical appointments and medications. According to their daughter, Mirna Diaz goes above and beyond to care for her elderly parents, calling them on the weekend when she is not working to remind them to take their meds and to make sure that they ate. She stays on top of organizing their medical appointments and making sure that they have their medications on hand. Their doctor told the daughter that her parents are thriving and have not missed an appointment since Mirna came on the scene.

Both Fredesvind and Juan require a great deal of assistance with their activities of daily living. Fredesvind, in particular is slow to dress, eat, bathe, etc. Mirna is very patient with her, allowing her to do things at her own pace. According to Juan, Mirna, a Dominican, is an excellent cook. There is much discussion in the home about which cuisine is better Dominican or Puerto Rican. The Fernandez' and Mirna also share a deeply felt religious faith. They join together in playing religious music and reading the bible.

According to their daughter, “During my mother’s recent medical emergencies, Mirna stayed by her side well after her normal duty hours and insured that the medical staff adequately attended to my mother’s needs. All this makes our family grateful that our elder parents are well cared for.”

Anchoring Community

St. Nicks Alliance, in addition to its outcomes driven work, is dedicated to preserving and protecting vital neighborhood institutions that build community and address the environment. We accomplish this by collaborating with broad-based coalitions of community leaders, residents and organizations who share our vision for building and preserving a vibrant community for all residents.

The Miracle on Ainslie Street
If one needs to look for inspiration for the purchase of 211 Ainslie Street, no better source to turn to would be the Ivonne Asch Family. They represent several generations of Williamsburg residents who have relied upon and continue to rely on the services of Small World and Swinging Sixties to raise and support four generations of their family including today’s great grandmother and great granddaughter.

Building a New School Settlement Center
Entire generations of North Brooklyn families have called School Settlement their afterschool and summer home. The oldest, continuously operating settlement house in Brooklyn had its start welcoming immigrants from southern Europe to North Brooklyn. Today, the 120 Jackson Street building has not survived as well as School Settlement’s reputation for service. SNA has joined with School Settlement Association, the Conselyea Street Block Association, elected officials and neighborhood residents to launch a campaign to build a New School Settlement Community Center on the existing site.

Four Generations of Ivonne Asch’s Family have relied on the Conselyea Street Block Association for Early Childhood and Senior Services

School Settlement Association has been the Afterschool and Summer Home for Generations of North Brooklyn Children. Today’s Children need a New SSA Community Center!
