

Danny Di Iorio

CEO - Aquamate

In 2001, Danny Di Iorio and his wife purchased Aquamate Water Tanks, from the then sole operator owner who had no employees and no manufacturing facilities and was retailing water tanks to local customers.

By 2013, Danny had moved the Aquamate business into their current headquarters set on a 3-acre site in Adelaide, South Australia where they design, engineer, manufacture and distribute a proprietary range of steel water tanks to a dealer network across Australia and in several countries around the world.

In April 2016, after several years of supplying hundreds of tanks into the US via a local distributor, Aquamate opened an office and warehouse facility in Dallas Texas to better service the North American water tank market.