

IGNITE

Your market potential.

What's next?

Reinventing your existing products?
Finding your next big thing?

Have you got the framework, tools and resources to get it done; to meet your market face-to-face, ask the right questions, do the critical thinking, and quickly convert this into a strategy for product advancement?

We do.

This is Ignite.
This is Fearsome futuremaking.

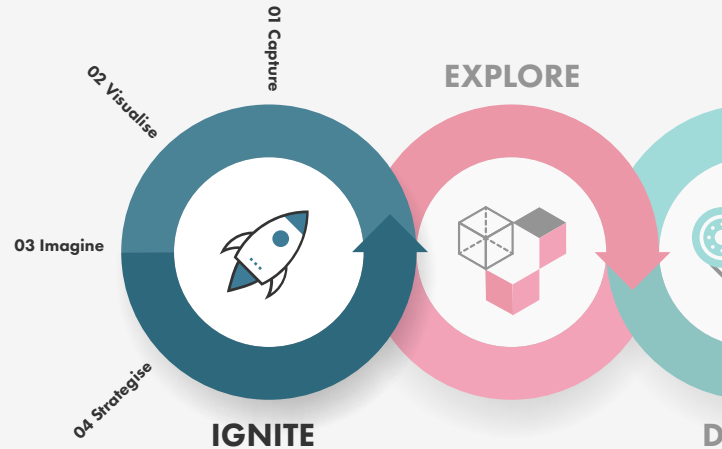

ISO 13485

Find and create hidden opportunities for growth, competitive advantage, and meaningful impact.

Ignite is a short, sharp front-end process, designed to unearth these opportunities and create a strategy that allow you to quickly prioritise, and test these with your market.

Because Ignite is a systematic, well defined process, you can access it in a number of ways:

“I need a market winning design for my new product”

Maximise your product-market fit.

Build your product around a verified value proposition.

“I want to find our next big thing or break into new markets”

Unearth new, compelling product opportunities.

Reinvigorate and add longevity to your existing products.

“I want to invigorate and equip my team for innovation”

Hands on, lively workshops, led by our design team.

A clear, learnable process for market-led innovation.

“Fearsome’s approach and divergent thinking have given us something truly unique for this market”

Jean-Baptiste Ripart

CEO, Oil & Gas Services, Air Liquide

“A new approach to strategising for my next project”

Pamela White
