

Doctoral Fellowships

ConTex-CONACYT doctoral fellowships give aspiring researchers the opportunity to make new discoveries and scientific breakthroughs while studying with world-class faculty. Students from Mexico will receive financial support to study at one of 14 University of Texas System institutions, studying with top researchers, while preparing for entry into a global workforce.

Fellows receive financial support for up to 5 years of doctoral study at a University of Texas Institution. Support includes:

Tuition and fees

A monthly stipend

Support toward health insurance

Funding is available in Fall 2017. Begin your application process one year in advance and apply to more than one program.

Interested students should:

- Apply for admission to graduate programs. Admission requirements vary by institution and department. Please visit specific institution and graduate program websites for more detailed information.
- Notify ConTex that you are interested in applying for the fellowship.
- Fill out a ConTex fellowship form.

About ConTex

ConTex is a joint initiative of the University of Texas System and Mexico's CONACYT. Established in 2016, ConTex will support bilateral efforts to enhance academic and research cooperation between Texas and Mexico. Funding is offered for doctoral students, postdoctoral and faculty fellows, non-degree student training, and bi-national collaborative research projects.

University of Texas System Schools

The University of Texas System is one of the largest public university systems in the United States. With 14 institutions and an enrollment of more than 217,000, the UT System confers more than one-third of the state's undergraduate degrees, educates almost two-thirds of the state's health care professionals annually and accounts for almost 70 percent of all research funds awarded to public institutions in Texas.

Eligible Ph. D. programs are available at all of the University of Texas System 14 institutions.
