

AFCO Performance Group welcomes the addition of

LONGACRE RACING PRODUCTS

November 18, 2016

Boonville, Ind. - AFCO Performance Group of Boonville, Indiana, announced today that Longacre Racing Products of Monroe, Washington, will be joining its group of companies in early 2017. For 38 years, Longacre has designed and manufactured the finest gauges, electronic scales, specialty tools, and chassis setup equipment in the racing industry. "We are very excited to join the AFCO Performance Group", said Jack Jaynes, owner of Longacre Racing Products. "Beginning in January 2017, we will begin shipping Longacre products from AFCO's Indiana facility. This central location will provide much quicker service to our customers in the East, Midwest and plains states with delivery times improving by as much as 5 days. In addition, there will be opportunity to combine Longacre products with other AFCO Performance Group products into one shipment, saving shipping costs and ordering time. All sales terms and conditions will remain the same."

"We look forward to welcoming Longacre Racing Products into our growing family of companies. Their product quality and delivery is second to none. Jack Jaynes and the Longacre team have a reputation for excellent customer service and leading edge product innovation that fits perfectly with all of our core values as a company. Supplementing their current strengths with our engineering and distribution systems will provide many positive benefits for Longacre and AFCO Performance Group customers going forward," said Jeff Scales, President of AFCO Performance Group.
