

Risk Appetite Assessment

Work alone or with your team to evaluate how much risk you're set up to take on and compare to what is ideal for innovation.

For more great resources or to get in touch, visit failforward.org

Risk Appetite Assessment

What's your true appetite for risk and innovation? Mark your current resource levels with a dot on each corresponding line. Connect the dots to see a picture of your current appetite.

Extra credit: Repeat with a second color, marking your ideal resource levels. How might you achieve that, and what might be possible?

Evaluate your resource levels based on:

The percentage of budget dedicated to innovation & high risk initiatives

The level to which your reputation is connected to innovation and high risk initiatives

The level to which governance (board, investors, & leadership) accept risk and innovation

The team's time and energy for innovation & high risk initiatives after core tasks

How affordable innovation is for you, in terms of resources and liability risk