

A New Dawn for UVa Law?
Phoebe Willis '18
Guest Columnist

Despite my best attempts to write an open letter to the Student Records Office in a collaborative and positive tone, I can honestly say that it would behoove any administrator to read a letter to them in the Law Weekly without the student first approaching their office. However, instead of being upset, Dean Dugas sent an email inviting SBA president Steven Glendon and me to come discuss the letter with him. Admittedly, Steven and I didn’t know what to expect from this meeting, Higher education is known for being a bureaucratic nightmare that is often slow-moving in adopting student input.

To our delight, Dean Dugas not only welcomed the suggestions in the letter, but he even went about immediately implementing them. Within thirty minutes of our meeting and continuing for a few days, Dean Dugas sent an email to Steven and me a bunch of different mock calendar invites because he wanted to make sure that he found the one that was compatible with all types of calendars, which would be easiest for students to use. Taking his willingness to work with students one step further, Dean Dugas asked the SBA for a student liaison who would meet him monthly to discuss student feedback and new ideas. Steven Glendon will be acting as the interim liaison until a permanent representative can be appointed.

A student was in a state of shock after the meeting, but then, I couldn’t stop talking about it. I feel as though my student leaders have experienced a less-than-positive interaction with an administrator, and this can color their perception of that person, maybe even until they graduate from the Law School experience. See my own experience missing the 3Ls’ deadline to register for classes this summer. But I have to say, working with Dean Dugas to find a solution that worked for all students (and not just complaining about my own situation) was a positive and enjoyable experience. I’ve had in law school.

Dean Goluboff often characterized as a “how-can-we-do-this” instead of a “no-style administrator.” He has just recently completed her first year as the leader of the Law School. I could tell that this new attitude from administration for openness and collaboration with students is working. Only time will tell, regardless of why my experience working with Dean Dugas was wonderful, all I can say is his colleagues should take a page from his book.

pawzy@virginia.edu

---

Jenna Goldman '18
Editor-in-Chief

The University of Virginia welcomed Secretary Hillary Rodham Clinton to Main Grounds on Tuesday, November 14, as the keynote speaker for the Women’s Global Leadership Forum. The Forum was held in conjunction with the UVa Biennial, which brought speakers from around the world to examine “The Role of Women in 21st Century Democracy.” Panels focused on Education and Health, Economic Access and Innovation, and Equity and Political Empowerment.

President Teresa Sullivan opened welcoming Governor Terry McAuliffe and his wife, Dorothy McAuliffe. Governor McAuliffe introduced Secretary Clinton by highlighting her work as an advocate for women and children, as a First Lady of Arkansas and the United States, as the first woman senator from New York, and as the first woman President of the Senate’s Global Leadership Forum.

Secretary Clinton began her remarks by congratulating the grieving crowd in electing Governor-elect Ralph Northam and for setting records in the number of women elected to state office in the Commonwealth.

“When I was serving as First Lady and serving as Secretary of State I was serving men, and in those positions, I was viewed more favorably. When I left the State Department I had a whopping sixty-nine percent approval rating,” Clinton said. “Those societal characteristics translate into politics.” She drew her advice to women with political aspirations from a quote by Eleanor Roosevelt: “Develop your skin as thick as a rhinoceros!” Clinton recounted the double standards as excruciating, giving the classic example of speech. “I was walking a tightrope without a safety net.” She recalled practicing for debates and being told to be careful of varying her tone to avoid the perception of “yelling” or “nagging,” and to avoid no circumstances lay a fist to the podium, “even though male orators often raise their voices and pound on the podium for emphasis—to men those are perceived as successful techniques.”

More than just the manner of speaking, Clinton pointed to the recent examples of the silencing of Senator Elizabeth Warren on the floor of the Senate, and of Senator Kamala Harris as she questioned Jeff Sessions during a Senate Intelligence Committee Hearing. Clinton encouraged the audience to take these attacks personally. “We need to understand and accept the fact that the diminishment of any woman is a diminishment of you and me,” she said.

Though Clinton addressed the difficult realities of running for office as a woman, she left the crowd with words of encouragement. “We have made progress, and we cannot let anyone turn us back,” she said. She urged the women in the room to cultivate their determination and to take on the risks that come along with leadership. “It takes courage, but the more women who run and win, the easier this process will become.”

After her speech, Clinton sat down on stage with moderator, and First Lady of Virginia Dorothy McAuliffe. McAuliffe asked Clinton a host of questions from cyber security to tax policy.

“I am encouraged by young Americans who are much more inclusive, valuing of diversity, and better at connecting with each other than previous generations.”

McAuliffe referenced the criticism Clinton received from those on the right and left for writing her book and for continuing to speak about the election. At first Clinton joked that if the pundits had left her alone, she still might be hiking in the woods. But she turned to the very serious reason why she continues to speak out. “When these guys, and they are all guys, when they tell me to go away I just say, ‘I’m not going to listen.’ I’m not going to walk away from the debates I’ve had my entire career.” Clinton noted that critics did not ask President George W. Bush or Senator John McCain the same questions.

“I am encouraged by young Americans who are much more inclusive, valuing diversity, and better at connecting with each other than previous generations.”

McAuliffe referenced the criticism Clinton received from those on the right and left for writing her book and for continuing to speak about the election. At first Clinton joked that if the pundits had left her alone, she still might be hiking in the woods. But she turned to the very serious reason why she continues to speak out. “When these guys, and they are all guys, when they tell me to go away I just say, ‘I’m not going to listen.’ I’m not going to walk away from the debates I’ve had my entire career.” Clinton noted that critics did not ask President George W. Bush or Senator John McCain the same questions.

“I am encouraged by young Americans who are much more inclusive, valuing diversity, and better at connecting with each other than previous generations.”

McAuliffe referenced the criticism Clinton received from those on the right and left for writing her book and for continuing to speak about the election. At first Clinton joked that if the pundits had left her alone, she still might be hiking in the woods. But she turned to the very serious reason why she continues to speak out. “When these guys, and they are all guys, when they tell me to go away I just say, ‘I’m not going to listen.’ I’m not going to walk away from the debates I’ve had my entire career.” Clinton noted that critics did not ask President George W. Bush or Senator John McCain the same questions.

“I am encouraged by young Americans who are much more inclusive, valuing diversity, and better at connecting with each other than previous generations.”

McAuliffe referenced the criticism Clinton received from those on the right and left for writing her book and for continuing to speak about the election. At first Clinton joked that if the pundits had left her alone, she still might be hiking in the woods. But she turned to the very serious reason why she continues to speak out. “When these guys, and they are all guys, when they tell me to go away I just say, ‘I’m not going to listen.’ I’m not going to walk away from the debates I’ve had my entire career.” Clinton noted that critics did not ask President George W. Bush or Senator John McCain the same questions.

“I am encouraged by young Americans who are much more inclusive, valuing diversity, and better at connecting with each other than previous generations.”

McAuliffe referenced the criticism Clinton received from those on the right and left for writing her book and for continuing to speak about the election. At first Clinton joked that if the pundits had left her alone, she still might be hiking in the woods. But she turned to the very serious reason why she continues to speak out. “When these guys, and they are all guys, when they tell me to go away I just say, ‘I’m not going to listen.’ I’m not going to walk away from the debates I’ve had my entire career.” Clinton noted that critics did not ask President George W. Bush or Senator John McCain the same questions.

“I am encouraged by young Americans who are much more inclusive, valuing diversity, and better at connecting with each other than previous generations.”

McAuliffe referenced the criticism Clinton received from those on the right and left for writing her book and for continuing to speak about the election. At first Clinton joked that if the pundits had left her alone, she still might be hiking in the woods. But she turned to the very serious reason why she continues to speak out. “When these guys, and they are all guys, when they tell me to go away I just say, ‘I’m not going to listen.’ I’m not going to walk away from the debates I’ve had my entire career.” Clinton noted that critics did not ask President George W. Bush or Senator John McCain the same questions.

“I am encouraged by young Americans who are much more inclusive, valuing diversity, and better at connecting with each other than previous generations.”

Secretary Clinton began her remarks by congratulating the grieving crowd in electing Governor-elect Ralph Northam and for setting records in the number of women elected to state office in the Commonwealth.

“When I was serving as First Lady and serving as Secretary of State I was serving men, and in those positions, I was viewed more favorably. When I left the State Department I had a whopping sixty-nine percent approval rating,” Clinton said. “Those societal characteristics translate into politics.” She drew her advice to women with political aspirations from a quote by Eleanor Roosevelt: “Develop your skin as thick as a rhinoceros!” Clinton recounted the double standards as excruciating, giving the classic example of speech. “I was walking a tightrope without a safety net.” She recalled practicing for debates and being told to be careful of varying her tone to avoid the perception of “yelling” or “nagging,” and to under no circumstances lay a fist to the podium, “even though male orators often raise their voices and pound on the podium for emphasis—to men those are perceived as successful techniques.”

More than just the manner of speaking, Clinton pointed to the recent examples of the silencing of Senator Elizabeth Warren on the floor of the Senate, and of Senator Kamala Harris as she questioned Jeff Sessions during a Senate Intelligence Committee Hearing. Clinton encouraged the audience to take these attacks personally. “We need to understand and accept the fact that the diminishment of any woman is a diminishment of you and me,” she said.

Though Clinton addressed the difficult realities of running for office as a woman, she left the crowd with words of encouragement. “We have made progress, and we cannot let anyone turn us back,” she said.
Album Review: Taylor Swift, reputation

First, a word about my credentials as a music critic. After the Taylor Swift train since Fearless

Tom Krazingur/18 (ha/him/his)

Guest Columnist

dropped in 2008, before most of you were even born. I have spent literal actual money to buy her albums (unlike every-... stream or YouTube like a normal person). I have her discography on my phone at all times, the official calendar hanging on my wall, and square menu of my left hand in the left corner of my desk. (Inciden-... burning Katy Perry vinyls on my sacrificial altar is located in the dark corners of the internet—what will happen when the New Taylor discovers that I’m a biker chick?)

During his campaign, President Donald Trump promised to put American coal miners back to work. The reversal of decades-long declines in coal production was the central ten-... the front, not the generalization of coal mining towns of Western Pennsylvania, it rang with a tone of salvation. Since the inaugu-... one new coal mine has opened in Pennsylvania. The Acosta Deep Mine, located about an hour east of Pittsburgh in Jenne-... town, PA, employs about sev-... rings. However, the album’s fatal flaw is its attempt to give ev-... you take a deep dive into Taylor Swift’s latest studio album, reputa-... Bay Area is the third-highest coal-... discovery of the resource in 1791 is now a Nolanesque avenger of the failures of the Trump Administration to fulfill the promise of “met” coal. Favorable market conditions for “met” coal are independent from the Trump Administration’s environmental policies and may change at any time. One may posit that the repeal of Obama Administra-... the reversal of decades-long declines in coal production was the central ten-... the front, not the generalization of coal mining towns of Western Pennsylvania, it rang with a tone of salvation. Since the inaugu-... one new coal mine has opened in Pennsylvania. The Acosta Deep Mine, located about an hour east of Pittsburgh in Jenne-... town, PA, employs about sev-... rings. However, the album’s fatal flaw is its attempt to give ev-... you take a deep dive into Taylor Swift’s latest studio album, reputa-... Bay Area is the third-highest coal-... discovery of the resource in 1791 is now a Nolanesque avenger of the failures of the Trump Administration to fulfill the promise of “met” coal. Favorable market conditions for “met” coal are independent from the Trump Administration’s environmental policies and may change at any time. One may posit that the repeal of Obama Administra-... the reversal of decades-long declines in coal production was the central ten-... the front, not the generalization of coal mining towns of Western Pennsylvania, it rang with a tone of salvation. Since the inaugu-... one new coal mine has opened in Pennsylvania. The Acosta Deep Mine, located about an hour east of Pittsburgh in Jenne-... town, PA, employs about sev-... rings. However, the album’s fatal flaw is its attempt to give ev-... you take a deep dive into Taylor Swift’s latest studio album, reputa-... Bay Area is the third-highest coal-... discovery of the resource in 1791 is now a Nolanesque avenger of the failures of the Trump Administration to fulfill the promise of “met” coal. Favorable market conditions for “met” coal are independent from the Trump Administration’s environmental policies and may change at any time. One may posit that the repeal of Obama Administra-... the reversal of decades-long declines in coal production was the central ten-... the front, not the generalization of coal mining towns of Western Pennsylvania, it rang with a tone of salvation. Since the inaugu-... one new coal mine has opened in Pennsylvania. The Acosta Deep Mine, located about an hour east of Pittsburgh in Jenne-... town, PA, employs about sev-... rings. However, the album’s fatal flaw is its attempt to give ev-... you take a deep dive into Taylor Swift’s latest studio album, reputa-... Bay Area is the third-highest coal-... discovery of the resource in 1791 is now a Nolanesque avenger of the failures of the Trump Administration to fulfill the promise of “met” coal. Favorable market conditions for “met” coal are independent from the Trump Administration’s environmental policies and may change at any time. One may posit that the repeal of Obama Administra-... the reversal of decades-long declines in coal production was the central ten-... the front, not the generalization of coal mining towns of Western Pennsylvania, it rang with a tone of salvation. Since the inaugu-... one new coal mine has opened in Pennsylvania. The Acosta Deep Mine, located about an hour east of Pittsburgh in Jenne-... town, PA, employs about sev-... rings. However, the album’s fatal flaw is its attempt to give ev-... you take a deep dive into Taylor Swift’s latest studio album, reputa-... Bay Area is the third-highest coal-... discovery of the resource in 1791 is now a Nolanesque avenger of the failures of the Trump Administration to fulfill the promise of “met” coal. Favorable market conditions for “met” coal are independent from the Trump Administration’s environmental policies and may change at any time. One may posit that the repeal of Obama Administra-... the reversal of decades-long declines in coal production was the central ten-... the front, not the generalization of coal mining towns of Western Pennsylvania, it rang with a tone of salvation. Since the inaugu-... one new coal mine has opened in Pennsylvania. The Acosta Deep Mine, located about an hour east of Pittsburgh in Jenne-... town, PA, employs about sev-... rings. However, the album’s fatal flaw is its attempt to give ev-... you take a deep dive into Taylor Swift’s latest studio album, reputa-... Bay Area is the third-highest coal-... discovery of the resource in 1791 is now a Nolanesque avenger of the failures of the Trump Administration to fulfill the promise of “met” coal. Favorable market conditions for “met” coal are independent from the Trump Administration’s environmental policies and may change at any time. One may posit that the repeal of Obama Administra-... the reversal of decades-long declines in coal production was the central ten-... the front, not the generalization of coal mining towns of Western Pennsylvania, it rang with a tone of salvation. Since the inaugu-... one new coal mine has opened in Pennsylvania. The Acosta Deep Mine, located about an hour east of Pittsburgh in Jenne-... town, PA, employs about sev-... rings. However, the album’s fatal flaw is its attempt to give ev-... you take a deep dive into Taylor Swift’s latest studio album, reputa-... Bay Area is the third-highest coal-... discovery of the resource in 1791 is now a Nolanesque avenger of the failures of the Trump Administration to fulfill the promise of “met” coal. Favorable market conditions for “met” coal are independent from the Trump Administration’s environmental policies and may change at any time. One may posit that the repeal of Obama Administra-... the reversal of decades-long declines in coal production was the central ten-... the front, not the generalization of coal mining towns of Western Pennsylvania, it rang with a tone of salvation. Since the inaugu-... one new coal mine has opened in Pennsylvania. The Acosta Deep Mine, located about an hour east of Pittsburgh in Jenne-... town, PA, employs about sev-... rings. However, the album’s fatal flaw is its attempt to give ev-... you take a deep dive into Taylor Swift’s latest studio album, reputa-... Bay Area is the third-highest coal-... discovery of the resource in 1791 is now a Nolanesque avenger of the failures of the Trump Administration to fulfill the promise of “met” coal. Favorable market conditions for “met” coal are independent from the Trump Administration’s environmental policies and may change at any time. One may posit that the repeal of Obama Administrat-...
CLINTON continued from page 1

As we head into exam season, the need to retreat to
social media she recounted
from Putin. We have
KGB leader and cautioned
Vladimir Putin's past as a
foreign affairs she said bluntly,
target point of international
relations as a catalyst instead of a de-
pressor these individuals, she
said, the need to retreat to
social media she recounted
from Putin. We have
KGB leader and cautioned
Vladimir Putin's past as a
foreign affairs she said bluntly,
target point of international
relations as a catalyst instead of a de-
pressor these individuals, she
said, the need to retreat to
social media she recounted
from Putin. We have
KGB leader and cautioned
Vladimir Putin's past as a
foreign affairs she said bluntly,
target point of international
relations as a catalyst instead of a de-
pressor these individuals, she
said, the need to retreat to
social media she recounted
from Putin. We have
KGB leader and cautioned
Vladimir Putin's past as a
foreign affairs she said bluntly,
target point of international
relations as a catalyst instead of a de-
pressor these individuals, she
said, the need to retreat to
social media she recounted
from Putin. We have
KGB leader and cautioned
Vladimir Putin's past as a
foreign affairs she said bluntly,
target point of international
relations as a catalyst instead of a de-
pressor these individuals, she
said, the need to retreat to
social media she recounted
from Putin. We have
KGB leader and cautioned
Vladimir Putin's past as a
foreign affairs she said bluntly,
target point of international
relations as a catalyst instead of a de-
pressor these individuals, she
said, the need to retreat to
social media she recounted
from Putin. We have
KGB leader and cautioned
Vladimir Putin's past as a
foreign affairs she said bluntly,
target point of international
relations as a catalyst instead of a de-
pressor these individuals, she
said, the need to retreat to
social media she recounted
from Putin. We have
KGB leader and cautioned
Vladimir Putin's past as a
foreign affairs she said bluntly,
target point of international
relations as a catalyst instead of a de-
pressor these individuals, she
said, the need to retreat to
social media she recounted
from Putin. We have
KGB leader and cautioned
Vladimir Putin's past as a
foreign affairs she said bluntly,
target point of international
relations as a catalyst instead of a de-
pressor these individuals, she
said, the need to retreat to
social media she recounted
from Putin. We have
KGB leader and cautioned
Vladimir Putin's past as a
foreign affairs she said bluntly,
target point of international
relations as a catalyst instead of a de-
pressor these individuals, she
said, the need to retreat to
social media she recounted
from Putin. We have
KGB leader and cautioned
Vladimir Putin's past as a
foreign affairs she said bluntly,
target point of international
relations as a catalyst instead of a de-
pressor these individuals, she
said, the need to retreat to
social media she recounted
from Putin. We have
KGB leader and cautioned
Vladimir Putin's past as a
foreign affairs she said bluntly,
target point of international
relations as a catalyst instead of a de-
pressor these individuals, she
said, the need to retreat to
social media she recounted
from Putin. We have
KGB leader and cautioned
Vladimir Putin's past as a
foreign affairs she said bluntly,
target point of international
relations as a catalyst instead of a de-
pressor these individuals, she
said, the need to retreat to
social media she recounted
from Putin. We have
KGB leader and cautioned
Vladimir Putin's past as a
foreign affairs she said bluntly,
target point of international
relations as a catalyst instead of a de-
pressor these individuals, she
said, the need to retreat to
social media she recounted
from Putin. We have
KGB leader and cautioned
Vladimir Putin's past as a
foreign affairs she said bluntly,
target point of international
relations as a catalyst instead of a de-
pressor these individuals, she
said, the need to retreat to
social media she recounted
from Putin. We have
KGB leader and cautioned
Vladimir Putin's past as a
foreign affairs she said bluntly,
target point of international
relations as a catalyst instead of a de-
pressor these individuals, she
said, the need to retreat to
social media she recounted
from Putin. We have
KGB leader and cautioned
Vladimir Putin's past as a
foreign affairs she said bluntly,
Custodial Staff v. Three Gallons, More or Less, of Student Milk: An Appeal to the Court of Petty Appeals of the University of Virginia Law School, 25 U. Va. L. Rev. 413 (2017)

GOLDMAN, C.J., joined by VANDERMEULEN, J. HOLMES, J. writes separately, concurring.

This court has long been asked to rule on what food may or may not be left on the free food table. We usually leave such determinations to SRA, as this Court generally accedes to the doctrine of “all food is good food.” That, until 2017, was brought to us by the esteemed custodial staff because “enough is enough.” We, of course, seized on this rare opportunity to exercise our discretion in rem.

On Friday, November 17, at approximately 7 p.m., a pink carton filled approximately three-quarters full of melted vanilla ice cream was left on the free food table along with several paper cups and spoons.

The free food table is the last frontier of lawlessness at the Law School. Generally governed by the reasonably prudent student who attends this institution, the table plays host to extra food and snacks placed there by organizations after mid-day events they host. We find this acceptable, and indeed desirable, because if there is food, it is generally taken during the ten-minute interval between classes in the afternoon. Supplying extra food and snacks is an important public service, so the existence of this table is not at issue.

There are two problems at issue in this case. First is the timing of the dropping off of food. The accepted practice is to leave food on the table during class changes or during times of high density of law students (for instance, after 5 p.m. classes let out during the week). Second is the content of the food. The dropping of high-sugar confections such as non- perishable candy, Zoe’s Kitchen catering, Sticks, pizza of any sought-after food such as non-food. The dropping of highly dense of hungry law students is shameful and perplexing. We can’t blame everything on the undergrads. We aren’t dissecting teleological arguments, concurring in the judgment of this court. I concur with the result that the majority has reached, and I write separately to explain my own reasoning. Amici have claimed that this ruling is not fair. They view our sentence to do some soul searching as to why this place gets so gross.

HOLMES, J., sitting by designation, concurring in the judgment:

I concur with the result that the majority has reached, and I write separately to explain my own reasoning. Amici have claimed that this ruling is not fair. They view our sentence to do some soul searching as to why this place gets so gross.

C.J. Goldman

“T

“The free food table is the last frontier of lawlessness…”

C.J. Goldman
COAL continued from page 2

more are anticipated as a result of the continued investment into renewable power. China’s solar sector now stands at 100 million, while the solar sector in the United States provides em-tation had immediate effects on the global market. The solar power sector in China is relatively small and inexpensive, the United States was forced to place tariffs on the import of solar panels in a bid to protect American producers. The fu-tion to compete with China’s renewable competitors, China de-

America’s solar sector continues to grow. The promise of increased investment in China’s solar sector is the primary driver of the United States’ decision to restrict the con-set out plans to cut roughly 1.3 billion tons of coal burning by 2030 and to get its energy sector shuttered coalmines and use their assets to build its renewable sector, which is the promise of increased investment in China’s solar sector is the primary driver of the United States’ decision to restrict the con-set its first ever target for reducing emissions. China currently produces 50 percent of the world’s coal, and its coal industry is the largest in the world. While the decision to transition away from coal warms my environmentalist heart, the Chinese government was not necessar-ly thinking green in the traditional sense. Rather, the People’s Republic of China chose to aggressively pursue renewable energy, believing in the future economic benefits of transitioning into the realm of renewable energy. China currently produces 1.6 percent of the world’s solar panels and nearly half of the world’s wind turbines. The clean energy sector now boasts 3.5 million jobs, while so many ion that producers had previously identified. Reasons to keep watching: special guests like Emily B. and Maynard, Laurie, and David Tennant, and the fact that many con-notested producers and directors mirror the exact internal dialogue you have during exams (e.g. “Is the market down? Neither!”)

VIRGINIA LAW WEEKLY

Viewing continued from page 3

American Housewife: If you temporarily suspend yourself from any kind of serious social statement, this show is hilarious. If you are a fan of BFFs, then watch Otto family living in a very affluent Connecticut neighborhood with an overly honest stay-at-home mom, a passive, intellectual father, and three comically flawed kids. Reasons to keep watching: Kait Myxons excellent timing and flair.

Shitt’s Creek: This show has been nothing short of hilarious since Eugene Levy’s eyebrows Eugenie Levy’s essays, Eugene Levy’s hilarious dress, the mother from the Home Alone movies (she has finally located all of her kids), and the speechless Schitts are tossed unceremoniously from their home and all of their assets into the clutches of the IRS and their only remain-

The show is filmed in Canada, so presumably the Canadian equivalent. But since the show was created by a team of former Chinese coal miners, they try their luck at new solar panel or wind turbine manufacturing companies. This show is interesting to those of mine, and, in spite of its unique setting, this show is one of the best to watch.

5. If you had to pick one song to play non-stop in the background of your year, what would it be?

-The best sound effect of the year was the sound of the Kordana predicted Canadian invasion, let’s call it

I’m an avid Game of Thrones fan. The last one is the lie. Sorry GOT lovers - you can’t kill off a dire wolf on camera and explore that my background are that similar to those of mine, and, in spite of his talent and his success he begins to express traits that I value, which are uncommon among most celebrities.

-If you had to pick one song to play non-stop in the background of your year, what would it be?

-Most likely Matt Bomer’s high-keyed stalker scene from White Collar. The show is actually my favorite, and I definitely overuse the nickname used to bother me, as he sneezed)

-Another tough one - I listen to music 24/7, so it’s super hard to pick one song to have to listen to non-stop, but I’d have to be opposed to it being Call on Me by Eric Pryde. I haven’t gotten tired of it yet, and it’s a fun dance to dance as well.

-Most likely a song I sent to my roommate telling me he rammed his head into the wall (he rammed his head into the wall as he sneezed).

-As a former Chinese coal miner, I listen to music 24/7, so it’s super hard to pick one song to have to listen to non-stop, but I’d have to be opposed to it being Call on Me by Eric Pryde. I haven’t gotten tired of it yet, and it’s a fun dance to dance as well.

-Most likely a song I sent to my roommate telling me he rammed his head into the wall (he rammed his head into the wall as he sneezed).

-As a former Chinese coal miner, I listen to music 24/7, so it’s super hard to pick one song to have to listen to non-stop, but I’d have to be opposed to it being Call on Me by Eric Pryde. I haven’t gotten tired of it yet, and it’s a fun dance to dance as well.

-Most likely a song I sent to my roommate telling me he rammed his head into the wall (he rammed his head into the wall as he sneezed).

-As a former Chinese coal miner, I listen to music 24/7, so it’s super hard to pick one song to have to listen to non-stop, but I’d have to be opposed to it being Call on Me by Eric Pryde. I haven’t gotten tired of it yet, and it’s a fun dance to dance as well.

-Most likely a song I sent to my roommate telling me he rammed his head into the wall (he rammed his head into the wall as he sneezed).

-As a former Chinese coal miner, I listen to music 24/7, so it’s super hard to pick one song to have to listen to non-stop, but I’d have to be opposed to it being Call on Me by Eric Pryde. I haven’t gotten tired of it yet, and it’s a fun dance to dance as well.

-Most likely a song I sent to my roommate telling me he rammed his head into the wall (he rammed his head into the wall as he sneezed).

-As a former Chinese coal miner, I listen to music 24/7, so it’s super hard to pick one song to have to listen to non-stop, but I’d have to be opposed to it being Call on Me by Eric Pryde. I haven’t gotten tired of it yet, and it’s a fun dance to dance as well.
Each year, the ANG Society recognizes one outstanding member of the University’s student body who has positively impacted the faculty and student body’s ability to keep a firm grasp on Things Worthy of Comment during their time at the University. But mostly, the award exists as an excuse for ANG to periodically remind you that ANG exists and that you still don’t know what “ANG” means but are resigned to its unexplained and enigmatic presence  in Law School society. This award is intended to be a bacon’s success and one which is given to individuals who have inspired the all-powerful ANG spirit of the University. The Distinguished Snark Award is given to those who serve as role models, confidants, and leaders, but especially to those who make appropriate use of both side-eye and the library standing desks.

ANG embraces the diversity of responsibilities and demands on our student body—ANG understands that there are theoretically such things as “cite checks,” “outlining,” and “doing the reading,” and that if you don’t Instagram from a vineyard every weekend, the weekend may well not have happened and the universe will be thrown into an unsustainable multiverse—and we encourage nominations from all of the three hallways, sections, and extracurricular activities. To aid you in identifying and recognizing a fellow soulless human you know, the list below may guide you.

1. Starting with this year.

2. Have you, like, seen our tag on various historic buildings around Thomas Jefferson’s University? No? Oh, wait YES that’s right: vandalism is a crime.

3. Society. n. See also collegiality.

4. Literally, the award is bacon. Bacons are better than beacons. Bacons, beacons, Battlestar Galactica. Also, what are we, 18th century England? Nobody uses beacons anymore, head. We just post statuses to Facebook and then hyperventilate in private because welcome to 2017!

---

The Docket

Wednesday – November 29, 2017

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Event</th>
<th>Location</th>
<th>Cost</th>
<th>Food</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>6:00 PM</td>
<td>National Security: Perspectives</td>
<td>African-American</td>
<td>Free</td>
<td>No, but civil rights icon and public theologian Ruby Sides is talking with Charles Marsh, professor of religious studies at UVa, on race, spirituality, and public life.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5:00 PM</td>
<td>SBA Social</td>
<td>Spies Garden</td>
<td>Free</td>
<td>Not sure</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5:00 PM</td>
<td>UVa BLSA 2017 Winter Diversity Reception</td>
<td>Caplin Pavilion</td>
<td>Free</td>
<td>Yes, just like the Red Wedding had food and cheer before the slaughs. Enjoy exams!</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Thursday – November 30, 2017

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Event</th>
<th>Location</th>
<th>Cost</th>
<th>Food</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>6:00 PM</td>
<td>African-American Heritage Center</td>
<td>At the Jefferson School</td>
<td>Free</td>
<td>Yes, but like most receptions no one will eat and people will self-select into groups of 4-7 people</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5:00 PM</td>
<td>UVa BLSA 2017 Winter Diversity Reception</td>
<td>Caplin Pavilion</td>
<td>Free</td>
<td>Yes, but like most receptions no one will eat and people will self-select into groups of 4-7 people</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Friday – December 1, 2017

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Event</th>
<th>Location</th>
<th>Cost</th>
<th>Food</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>9:00 AM – 3:45 PM</td>
<td>Madison Choral Society presents “Christmas Around the World”</td>
<td>St. Thomas’ Episcopal Church</td>
<td>Free</td>
<td>Hot chocolate. The top five teams that raise the most money by midnight before the Plunge are entered into a drawing to win 4 free airline vouchers to anywhere in the U.S.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Saturday – December 2, 2017

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Event</th>
<th>Location</th>
<th>Cost</th>
<th>Food</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>10:00 AM</td>
<td>Charlottesville Polar Plunge Fundraiser for the Special Olympics</td>
<td>Shops at Stonefield</td>
<td>Free</td>
<td>No, but the music should help clear your head of all the screaming 1Ls we’ll hear around WB</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Sunday – December 3, 2017

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Event</th>
<th>Location</th>
<th>Cost</th>
<th>Food</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>3:00 PM</td>
<td>Holidays with the Hoos</td>
<td>JFI Arena</td>
<td>Free</td>
<td>No. Back in my day this was called “Christmas with the Hoos,” “War on Christmas,” but go watch the Cavalier Marching Band Play. With 320 members, we see that the Band is using the Georgetown Law admissions model.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Monday – December 4, 2017

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Event</th>
<th>Location</th>
<th>Cost</th>
<th>Food</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>11:30 PM</td>
<td>Mental Health, Substance Professional</td>
<td>Purcell</td>
<td>Free</td>
<td>Doubt it.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7:00 PM</td>
<td>A Christmas Carol</td>
<td>American Shakespeare Company</td>
<td>$21-$60</td>
<td>That one goose’s fruit hat.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

VIRGINIA LAW WEEKLY

SUDOKU

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th>7 3 6</th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th>2 9</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>9</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>2 8 3</td>
<td>1</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>1 6</td>
<td>9</td>
<td></td>
<td>2</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>1</td>
<td></td>
<td>9 6</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7</td>
<td>2 8 3</td>
<td>9</td>
<td></td>
<td>5 6 7</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Solution

| 8 | 6 | 7 | 3 1 5 | 2 4 | 9 |
| 6 | 1 9 | 5 8 | 7 4 | 7 2 6 | 1 |
| 5 8 9 | 6 1 2 | 9 3 7 | 4 5 6 | 8 |
| 9 1 2 | 8 4 3 6 5 | 7 6 5 2 | 1 9 | 4 7 8 | 5 |
| 1 5 8 | 9 6 7 6 2 | 3 4 5 | 8 5 6 | 9 3 7 | 8 |
| 6 7 1 | 3 9 4 | 5 1 8 | 3 2 6 5 | 7 9 | 8 | 4 5 6 7 8 |

---

CARTOON BY ALI