

EDUCATIONAL SPONSORSHIP

Go For Broke - a 442 Origins Story, follows a group of University of Hawai'i ROTC students during the tumultuous year after the attack on Pearl Harbor, as they navigate wartime Hawai'i and fight discrimination. In the dark days following December 7th, these Americans of Japanese ancestry form the Varsity Victory Volunteers (VVV), fighting to defend their beloved Hawai'i and get back their right to bear arms. The brave actions of these young men, their families, and the people who helped them, along with the perseverance of the original 100th Infantry Battalion draftees from Hawai'i, directly led to the formation of the segregated all-Japanese fighting unit, the 442nd RCT - the most decorated combat unit in U.S. military history.

Please help us share the story of our veterans with Hawai'i's public and private schools.

There are obvious parallels between the experiences of the AJAs in the 1940s and some minority groups today. If there were ever a time when a project like this was needed, it is now, when Americans need a reminder of the dire consequences of giving in to the mentality of prejudice and fear. By demonstrating the strength of our collective Americanism, this miniseries can help steer our youth toward a wholesale rejection of prejudice by showing how powerful the virtues of tolerance and understanding are.

For schools in Hawai'i, sponsored copies of Go For Broke will allow educators to teach this vital part of our island history, and also rekindle the true spirit of our island culture so that all of Hawai'i's youth can become ambassadors of what the late Senator Daniel K. Inouye believed was our most precious resource: aloha.
