ARTSEMERSON AND HOWLROUND JOIN OVER ONE HUNDRED THEATRE ORGANIZATIONS ACROSS THE UNITED STATES THAT WILL PARTICIPATE IN “THE GHOSTLIGHT PROJECT” PLEDGING TO PROTECT VALUES OF INCLUSION, PARTICIPATION, AND COMPASSION FOR EVERYONE

THURSDAY, JANUARY 19, 2017, 5:30PM
EMERSON/CUTLER MAJESTIC THEATRE, BOSTON
FREE AND OPEN TO ALL

[Boston, MA – January 12, 2017] On the eve of Inauguration Day 2017, ArtsEmerson and HowlRound will join over one hundred theatres across the United States that will participate in the Ghostlight Project, which will bring the theatre community together from coast to coast on January 19, 2017 at 5:30 p.m. in each time zone to light a light and make a pledge to stand for and protect the values of inclusion, participation, and compassion for everyone, regardless of race, class, religion, country of origin, immigration status, (dis)ability, gender identity or sexual orientation. The range of participating theatres include Broadway houses, regional theatres, college/university theatres, community theatres, and high school theatre departments.

Inspired by the theatrical tradition of keeping a “ghost light” on in a darkened theater, the Ghostlight Project and participating theatres aim to “create light” for the challenging times ahead by inviting communities to gather, reflect, and shine lights. ArtsEmerson will host its gathering, including reading selections from the Constitution and public reflection, at the Emerson/Cutler Majestic Theatre (in front and inside) located at 219 Tremont Street in Boston’s historic Theatre District. HowlRound (a knowledge commons by and for the theatre community), also housed at Emerson College, will live-stream the event at www.howlround.com. Attendees are encouraged to bring any electric light source, but no open flames. RSVP is not required, but encouraged at http://bit.ly/2jz5HwC. For more information call 617.824.8400 or visit www.artsemerson.org. #GhostlightProject #BeALight #AllAreWelcome
Other Boston-area theatrical organizations participating (as of this writing) include The Huntington Theatre Company, American Repertory Theatre (ART), Boston Center for the Arts, SpeakEasy Stage Company, Commonwealth Shakespeare Company, Central Square Theatre, Gloucester Stage Company, Wellfleet Harbor Actors’ Theatre (WHAT), and others. “As a field,” says P. Carl, Co-Artistic Director of ArtsEmerson and Director of HowlRound, “theater across America has worked diligently and consistently to be a place where complex conversations across many viewpoints can happen respectfully, with compassion and generosity. In a divisive moment in our country theatre makers of every sort have come together offering our theaters as a place of light for all—a place where inclusion and connection is our guide and people will join in a collective, simultaneous pledge. ArtsEmerson and HowlRound are proud to be a part of the Ghostlight Project, fostering creative expression and meaningful conversation in brave spaces.”

“The performing arts and the theatre especially powerfully connect us to our common humanity. I applaud ArtsEmerson and HowlRound, as well as members of the theatre community in Boston and across the country, for this national initiative to shine a bright light on our shared values, and our commitment to diversity and inclusion,” said Emerson College President Lee Pelton. “An important aspect of our students’ education is their participation in community and civic life so they might develop an appreciation of the impact they can make on society in a participatory democracy.”

About ArtsEmerson

ArtsEmerson is the professional presenting and producing organization of the Office of the Arts at Emerson College, and aims to address gaps in Boston’s cultural landscape by putting the world on stage and inviting diverse audiences from across the region into its historic downtown venues. Founded in 2010 by Robert J. Orchard under the auspices of Emerson College, ArtsEmerson quickly established a reputation for putting great work from diverse cultures on its stages — work that emanates from the language of theater, yet pushes the boundaries into dance, music, and opera. The organization is committed to building a cultural institution that embraces and reflects the changing demographics of the City of Boston. ArtsEmerson operates from the core belief that the arts are for everyone. In 2015, Orchard moved into the role of Creative Consultant. Currently ArtsEmerson is led by Co-Artistic Directors, David Dower and P. Carl, and Executive Director, David Howse. This shared leadership model reflects the organization’s values — that multiple voices are essential to leading a 21st century arts organization.
