DOES YOUR SERVICE ANIMAL NEED THEIR EYES EXAMINED?

Each year qualifying formally trained Service and Working Animals, and some qualifying assistance and therapy animals, participate in the ACVO/StokesRx National Service Animal Eye Exam event to receive free sight-preserving screenings. These exams are generously provided by volunteer board certified Diplomates of the American College of Veterinary Ophthalmologists.

Registration occurs April 1st – April 30th annually, online. Exams take place in May at participating clinics across the country.
