

A Tribute to Nonviolence

A Benefit for the Addie Wyatt Center for Nonviolence Training

“Change can come but you cannot do it alone.”
Rev. Addie Wyatt

When: Thursday, October
26, 2017, 6 pm – 8 pm

Where: Evanston Art
Center, 1717 Central St.

Tickets: $50 minimum donation (in advance or at the door)

Catered by Curt's Café, with a Cash Bar

Featuring Hassan El-Tayyab on Guitar

Meet and Hear from Evanston youth and city staff trained in Kingian nonviolence and who are training others in turn

Join us in celebrating the first anniversary of the Addie Wyatt Center for Nonviolence Training. Violence comes in many forms: physical, emotional, and the institutional oppression that comes with racism and poverty. Your support equips young people, their mentors, and surrounding communities with the methodological tools developed by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. to bring about a just and peaceful world in the Chicago metropolitan area.

Hosted by: Carmen Corbett, Miriam Joseph, Gretchen Livingston, Gail Schechter, and Pam Smith

Addie Wyatt Center for Nonviolence Training, c/o Entrenuity, 1550 S. State Street, Room 100, Chicago, IL 60605. All tickets/donations are tax deductible.

www.addiewyattcenter.org • addiewyattcenterchicago@gmail.com • (312) 719-3740