LIVE BLUES MUSIC
7 NIGHTS A WEEK!

VISIT CLARKSDALE
COAHOMA COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI

VISIT CLARKSDALE
BLUES CAPITAL OF THE WORLD
With live music 7 nights a week, Clarksdale boasts a music scene unlike any other. Experience live music in authentic settings like Red's Lounge, Ground Zero Blues Club, and a variety of unique venues. Visit the historic Crossroads at the intersection of Highways 61 & 49.

TENNESSEE WILLIAMS
Between 1917 and 1932, young Tom "Tennessee" Williams, legendary playwright, lived with and regularly visited his grandparents in Clarksdale, Mississippi, where his grandfather was rector of St. George's Episcopal Church. The rectory is now home to the Tennessee Williams Rectory Museum.

THE MIGHTY MISSISSIPPI RIVER
Clarksdale has become known worldwide for custom guided tours on the Mississippi River in 26 foot long handmade wooden canoes. Experience the raw, untouched sandbars and banks of this powerful river with trained river guides.

DELTA BLUES MUSEUM
Mississippi's first music museum and the first museum dedicated to blues music in the world. See the cabin Muddy Waters lived in on Stovall Farms and a car like the one Alan Lomax used when he recorded Muddy. Learn about the Blues Education program where older blues musicians teach young people how to play the blues today.

ANNUAL FESTIVALS
Clarksdale has over a dozen annual festivals throughout the year. Festivals include the Juke Joint Festival every April, the Sunflower River Gospel and Blues Festival in August, and the Clarksdale Film Festival in January. For a complete list of festivals, see visitclarksdale.com!

CIVIL RIGHTS HISTORY
Aaron Henry, one of the most influential figures in the civil rights movement, grew up in Clarksdale where his drug store became the center of his involvement. In 1960, Henry was named president of the local NAACP. Martin Luther King, Jr. visited Clarksdale for the first major meeting of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC).

More than enough for a two-night's stay with amazing places to sleep and eat!

VISIT CLARKSDALE
326 Blues Alley Lane | Clarksdale, Mississippi 38614 | +1 662-627-6149