I have just met with the National Board of Trustees at our annual Spring Board meeting in Columbus, Ohio. It is my pleasure to report that our organization continues to remain active in our parishes, dioceses and across the Orthodox world! It is my sincere hope that you read the Gifts of Love article on St. Tabitha’s Orphanage and encourage your parishes and chapters to donate to this worthy cause. Together we can make a difference in the secular and spiritual lives of Orthodox Christians half a world away. We urge our youth to participate in expressing their faith through their creativity with our annual Celebrations of Faith contest; entry information is available on our website and the details are in this issue of the Journal. Make sure to mark your calendars and join us in the many upcoming events for our young, old and young at heart members during the Spring and Summer. Our host chapters are well into the planning stages for faith, fellowship and fun at our National Basketball, Bowling and Golf tournaments. Last but certainly not least, the Ohio District will certainly pull out the red carpet to welcome us to Columbus! Join us Labor Day weekend for our 93rd Annual National Convention.

From my family to yours, I wish you all a most Blessed Pascha!

Metropolitan Tikhon spent the first weekend of Great Lent paying an archpastoral visit to the OCA Diocese of the West and several parishes in northern California. He gave the homily at the Sunday of Orthodoxy Vespers celebrated on Sunday evening, March 17th (note: not on Saturday) at the historic Holy Trinity Russian Orthodox Cathedral in San Francisco. Other hierarchs joining him were Archbishop Kirill (ROCOR), Archbishop Benjamin and Bishop Daniel. His Beatitude’s sermon quoted extensively from his own “namesake” Bishop Tikhon (later Patriarch of Moscow), who spoke in the very same cathedral in 1898 upon his arrival in North America.
EDITOR’S NOTES

Nicholas D. Ressetar
Editor, Orthodox Christian JOURNAL

Welcome to the latest issue of your Orthodox Christian Journal. Gracing our front cover is 1972 artwork by the late Nick Konon, a talented Chicago artist who drew many original works for the Russian Orthodox Journal as it was known. It features a traditional Slavic Easter table with a kulich, simay or cheese paska, eggs and candles. And Pascha is our final destination for this Great Lenten journey in the words of Fr. Schmemann — see the Kidz Corner for the multi-lingual greetings (from an old Fr. Dan bulletin) and our patrons extend their own — many thanks!

This issue contains a variety of stories and promos. President Allison, in addition to her message, asks that we support the Tabitha Orphanage in Kenya — this year’s Gifts of Love project. Rebecca Kozak reminds the youth to enter the 2019 Celebration of Faith creative arts contest. National Secretary Danielle Ilchuk invites applications for the scholarship program with new, all-electronic forms – and Marywood University is accepting applications for the Peter Kohudic scholarship established by his wife, Nancy. The Ohio District and Becky Tesar call all explorers to “Discover Columbus” at the Labor Day weekend national convention. And Sami Exler is seeking your photos for the annual contest — all the details inside.

Our spiritual leader, Metropolitan Tikhon, has had a busy winter. We cover his Moscow trip for the celebration of Patriarch Kirill’s 10th anniversary of enthronement, publish his letter inviting all to use the new study guide for “Of What Life Do We Speak?” and include a few photos from the Sunday of Orthodoxy celebration in San Francisco. Dimitri Ressetar reports on the recent Orthodox youth and camp worker conference at Antiochian Village. Longtime contributor Larry Skvir recounts the 82nd Novogodny Ball — the premier FOCA winter social event and the gift to St. Tikhon’s Summer Camp (back from vacation this July!). Archimandrite Luke (Murianka) was consecrated ROCOR bishop at Jordanville’s Holy Trinity Monastery – Axios! And we continue to follow the ongoing “Crisis in Orthodoxy” in the Ukraine where the schism is intensifying – Lord have mercy.

In sports, we feature both spring national tournaments – basketball in Campbell (May 3-5) and bowling in Baltimore (May 17-19) — entry forms and promos are included. Plan to participate now! Rounding out this edition are transitions, an updated calendar, the new “Mishka the Mouse” book and more. The Journal will return in late June after Pascha/Easter. Allow us to wish you and your families an early “Christ is Risen” and, until then, enjoy the Fellowship you find on these pages!

NEW CHILDREN’S BOOK: “MISHKA THE MOUSE”

The talented duo of “Miss Jane” Svitchan and Sheena Hisiro has recently released their newest read for children. “Mishka the Mouse,” written by Jane Svitchan, is the delightful tale of a little mouse who ends up living in “Miss Jane’s” house. The wonderful illustrations are by Sheena Hisiro, who has provided drawings for more than 35 books; she’s also a past national FOCA and Central PA District scholarship recipient. Their new book is available from St. Tikhon’s Bookstore: www.stspress.com or 1-888-454-6678. Proceeds benefit charities. It makes a perfect Easter basket gift!

When you sponsor an event in the middle of January, the weather is always a concern. The 82nd Novogodny Ball sponsored by St. Stephen’s OCF on January 20 was no exception. The weekend weather forecast caused the cancellation of the celebration of the Blessing of Water at the Schuylkill River, scheduled for earlier in the afternoon. But the Ball went on as planned later that evening, in spite of the snow, freezing rain, bitter cold, and strong winds that affected the tri-state area. While there were a few cancellations, most of our faithful patrons, including friends from Ohio, Western Pennsylvania, Virginia, and Maryland, braved the weather and were on hand to welcome the New Year with music, fellowship, and dancing.

As is customary, the Novogodny Ball weekend began on Saturday, January 19 with a Colonial District Executive Board meeting held at St. Stephen’s Cathedral and chaired by Walter Alesievich, District Governor. Unfortunately, later in the evening Walter had a medical emergency and spent several days in Torresdale Jefferson Hospital in Northeast Philadelphia. Walter is doing fine and taking a week off for some rest and recuperation in Connecticut. Walter has been a faithful friend of the Novogodny Ball and has served as Colonial District Governor for decades. His presence was greatly missed and we are glad that he is doing okay after a very eventful weekend.

After a great debut for their first chairmanship of the 81st Novogodny Ball, Andre and Alex Cox were again co-chairs of the 82nd Ball. With the assistance of Ball Chairman Emeritus, Paul Fedoronko, reservation coordinator Martha Sisko, and other Chapter 82 members, all the pieces fell into place for an evening of fun at the Radisson Hotel Philadelphia Northeast in Trevose, PA. Following a leisurely sit-down dinner which was enjoyed by some of our guests, the talented Kauriga Orchestra took the stage at 7:30 PM to get the party started. In spite of the winter weather, over 200 guests were on hand, including the large and growing number of teens and young adults who gather at the Ball every January.

During the first intermission, Andre Cox welcomed Fr. Victor Gorodenchuk, Dean of St. Stephen’s Cathedral, who thanked everyone for braving the weather to attend the Ball. Fr. Victor introduced His Eminence, Archbishop Mark, from the OCA Diocese of Eastern Pennsylvania, who extended his diocesan welcome. Many Years were intoned for Alexander Cox who was celebrating his 30th birthday. At subsequent intermissions, there were line dances and contemporary music that kept the dance floor filled, door prize giveaways to lucky ticketholders, and a 50-50 raffle.

The balloon drop at 11:00 PM to welcome in the New Year (it was 12:00 midnight somewhere over the Atlantic) went off flawlessly and sent kids scrambling to find one of the prizes in the balloons. The assembled crowd gathered around to cheer the traditional HOPAK circle, which included a few very young dancers. And then the 82nd Ball was history, and folks headed home in the bitter cold, already looking forward to the 83rd Novogodny Ball.

St. Stephen’s was glad to welcome Nick Ressetar, OC Journal Editor, to the Ball. The chapter also appreciated the financial support from FOCA friends who couldn’t be with us this year. Profits from the Ball benefit Orthodox and other worthy charities, including St. Tikhon’s Summer Camp. Mark your calendars for Sunday, January 19, 2020. Plan to be with us for the 83rd Novogodny Ball and bring your friends!
Nearly 100 Orthodox Christians from across the country gathered for the 18th annual Orthodox Youth and Camp Worker Conference at the noted Antiochian Village in Bolivar, PA from January 24-26. Hosted by Metropolitan Joseph and the Antiochian Orthodox Christian Archdiocese of North America, it was sponsored by the Orthodox Youth Directors in North America with the blessing of the canonical Assembly of Bishops. Participants had a busy schedule of liturgical services, including a supplication to St. Raphael, Bishop of Brooklyn, whose gravesite is on the grounds, lectures, roundtable discussions, and social activities. The conference’s “objective is to offer an enriching and uplifting experience that will connect youth and camp workers and provide them with inspirational and challenging ideas to help them refine and improve their work.”

Many jurisdictions, including Greek, Serbian, Carpatho-Russian, and OCA were represented at the conference. The attendees came from the east and west coasts, points in between, as well as Canada, covering many different aspects of youth work. Volunteer church school teachers from small parishes were there as well as several full-time paid youth directors from large parishes. Parish priests along with priests working in education and curriculum development were present, as were several seminarians. Many Orthodox camps—small and large—were represented by their directors and staff members.

The packed schedule included two full days preceded by a Wednesday evening arrival and succeeded by a conference conclusion on the final half-day Saturday. Thursday included two keynote addresses by Dr. Chris Thurber. A child psychologist active in summer camps since childhood, Dr. Thurber converted to Orthodoxy in college and continues to be involved in camp programs as well as consultation, coaching, and training faculty and staff at schools and camps. His first keynote topic was “Kids Do Dumb Stuff”, reflecting on the tendency for kids and younger camp staff to sometimes have perplexing behaviors making poor choices, and how to handle those situations and set good examples while still being able to have fun in a camp setting. The second keynote “XXX-Posed: Youth Development in the 21st Century” covered some scenarios children can be exposed to in their day to day lives, such as violent video games and racy magazines, and how to handle those topics should they come up in a camp setting. He encouraged a careful discussion by experienced camp staff with open-ended questions so that the youth may be able to work it out themselves why such things may be self-destructive.

After each of the keynote speeches, the audience would break into four smaller groups to discuss the topic further and share their experiences. These small groups as well as breakout sessions the following day provided opportunities for networking.

Friday included a total of six short “TED Talks” throughout the day. The first was “Spiritual Self Care” by Mother Christophora, abbess of the Orthodox Monastery of the Transfiguration: “As an abess of a monastery, I often received the advice to ‘take care of yourself’ and then the caring person would walk away. Good advice, but I received no hint or assistance in how to do that. I finally realized that self care is not a gift from anyone to us, but a gift from ourselves to ourselves”. After her introductory remarks she presented ways to keep ourselves spiritually healthy by covering 12 items in 12 minutes on the importance and need to “take time off to be with the Lord” in order to have the spiritual and physical energy to do youth ministry. Next, Father Michael Nasser, pastor of St. Nicholas Orthodox Church in Grand Rapids, MI spoke on “How to Accept & Love Others when it Counts the Most” covering topics that come up in youth ministry and camps and the importance of “unity in diversity” especially when dealing with the different personalities and behaviors of children and staff in camp settings. Finally, Jenny Mosher, director of The Telos Project, spoke on “Creating Leadership Opportunities” for young adults in church settings and parish ministry programs.

In the afternoon, Bishop Thomas spoke on “Staying Focused in the Orthodox World” and the importance of celebrating the liturgy together as part of a serious effort to move ourselves and the youth towards the Kingdom of God. He stressed that praying for those in different vocations and not getting distracted by political things are necessary to keep from drifting away. Next, Katrina Bitar, YES program director, FOCUS North America spoke on “Exploring Our Youth Ministry Motivations” covering how every job can be sacred and how different approaches are needed to work towards goals. Concluding the TED Talks, Kira Senedak presented “Having Difficult Conversations” in the context of camp and youth activities. She stressed the importance of planning and prayer to keep the conversations rooted in Christ so that God’s grace can “heal what is infirm and complete what is lacking in us”.

Also on Friday, two breakout sessions occurred where each attendee could choose among four topics. These included “Social Media” by Natalie Saliba, director of operations at Antiochian Village Camp (AVC); “Money and Ministry: Modeling Good Financial Stewardship” by Father Ben Kjendal, pastor of St. Michael Orthodox Church in Cotuit, MA; “Medical Best Practices” by Dr. Peter Gagianas; “What About Those non-Orthodox [Curriculum] Materials?” by Father Tony Vrame, director of the department of religious education, Greek Orthodox Archdiocese of America; “Increase Your Fundraising Success” by Nick Chakos, Orthodox Ministry Services; and “Mental Health” by the mother-son team of Kh. Janet Shadid, a psychotherapist and counselor at AVC and Chris Shadid, a psychotherapist and assistant camp director at AVC. Additionally, tours of the Antiochian Village camp facilities were offered by Cade Scott and other AVC staff.

The Fellowship’s own Michael G. Herzak, president of Insurance Systems Group, Independence, OH (and a past national president), gave a presentation on “Risk Management & Youth Protection” during the breakout sessions. Representing St. Tikhon’s Summer Camp was one of its new directors, Dimitri G. Ressetar, Harrisburg “O Club, #199 (who worked last year at the Ohio District’s St. Vladimir Camp).

Next year the Orthodox Youth and Camp Workers Conference will be hosted by the Serbian Orthodox Church in January 2020. Candidate cities include Los Angeles, Phoenix, Chicago, and Orlando. Visit orthodoxycc.org for more information.
As reported earlier, His Beatitude, Metropolitan Tikhon and a delegation from the Orthodox Church in America joined the representatives of the Local Orthodox Churches for the celebration of the tenth anniversary of the election and enthronement of His Holiness, Patriarch Kirill of Moscow as Primate of the Russian Orthodox Church.

Accompanying Metropolitan Tikhon were His Grace, Bishop Daniel of Santa Rosa; Archpriest Alexander Rentel, Chancellor; Archpriest Daniel Andrejuk, OCA Representative to the Moscow Patriarchate; Melanie Ringa, Treasurer; Archdeacon Joseph Matusiak; and Subdeacon Roman Ostash.

Upon their arrival in Moscow on Wednesday, January 30, 2019, Metropolitan Tikhon and the delegation were greeted by His Eminence, Metropolitan Ignatius of Vologda and Kirillov; His Grace, Bishop Matthew of Sourozh; Archpriest Igor Yakimchuk, Department of External Church Relations’ [DECR] Secretary for Inter-Orthodox relations; and Dimitri Petrovsky, DECR staff member.

Patriarch Kirill welcomes Metropolitan Tikhon, delegation. In the evening, Metropolitan Tikhon and the delegation were received by Patriarch Kirill at the Patriarchal Residence at Moscow’s Danilov Monastery. After initial greetings, His Holiness welcomed Metropolitan Tikhon in the Patriarchal Chapel, where they venerated the holy altar before exchanging formal greetings and remarks.

“I would like to welcome your delegation, and in particular Father Alexander Rentel, who visits for the first time in his capacity as Chancellor,” Patriarch Kirill said in his welcoming remarks. “We will have a chance to talk about issues related to world Orthodoxy and bilateral relations. I would like to emphasize that our bilateral relations have stood the test of time and have never been overshadowed by anything since the establishment of the OCA. I would like to highlight that whenever our delegation visits the US they meet with you and your representatives, and if your bishops come to Moscow they are always considered to be dear guests of ours.”

His Holiness went on to speak about the initiation of the Summer Institutes at Saints Cyril and Methodius Institute of Post Graduate Studies, which offers hospitality during the summer months to representatives of other Local Churches and offers an opportunity to get acquainted with the life of the Russian Church. In June 2018, a number of OCA clergy participated in the inaugural program.

“I would also like to stress the role our Representations play in our bilateral relations,” His Holiness continued. “Your Representation here and ours in New York enable us to maintain close permanent contacts. This year marks the 25th anniversary of the establishment of the OCA Representation in Moscow. I am very glad to witness that your representative is doing a very good job representing your Church. Recently I received a letter in which you asked that I contact the government of Moscow to find the necessary funds to help with the restoration of your representation church here in Moscow. Certainly we are going to submit such a request to the government of Moscow. And, I do know the response they are going to give is going to be a positive one. The only issue that can arise is the time frame for this restoration. Moscow allocates certain budget funds for these purposes, and what is important is that the restoration work fit both the financial and time limits of this budget.”

His Holiness also spoke of his satisfaction with regard to the Patriarchate’s Representation Church of Saint Nicholas in New York City and the relationship it maintains with the OCA through His Grace, Bishop Matthew of Sourozh, Administrator of the Patriarchal Parishes in the USA.

In response, Metropolitan Tikhon congratulated Patriarch Kirill on the occasion of the tenth anniversary of his enthronement and offered his “personal prayers for many more years of such steadfast service to Christ, to the Russian Orthodox Church, and to world Orthodoxy.

“Our delegation from the Orthodox Church in America is grateful for the warm welcome offered to us by His Eminence, Metropolitan Ignatius of Vologda, and His Grace, Bishop Matthew of Sourozh, upon our arrival here in Moscow, and we look forward to the celebrations that have been planned this week,” Metropolitan Tikhon said, adding that Patriarch Kirill has “borne a tremendous burden with respect to recent developments in Ukraine, developments which are being debated by all the Churches but which have most directly and painfully affected the clergy and faithful of Ukraine. The Orthodox Church in America has articulated its position in the recent Archpastoral Letter of our Holy Synod of Bishops.

“I would like to assure Your Holiness in person that our commitment to the upholding of canonical order remains firm and our gratitude to the Russian Church remains constant,” Metropolitan Tikhon added. “In spite of these global difficulties, the relations between the Russian Orthodox Church and the Orthodox Church in America remain strong and have grown during the ten years of your Primatial ministry, and I pray that this week’s celebration will be full of joy...”

Orthodox Christian JOURNAL • Winter 2019
and the hope that comes from fraternal concelebrations and continued collaboration on matters affecting world Orthodoxy.”

Metropolitan Tikhon continued by offering examples of the positive relationship between the OCA and the Russian Orthodox Church; the desire to increase cooperation in the area of youth ministry, joint exchanges and pilgrimages; plans for the celebration in 2020 of the 50th anniversary of the granting of autocephaly and the glorification of Saint Herman of Alaska; and other matters of mutual interest. Metropolitan Tikhon especially thanked Patriarch Kirill for his support of Father Daniel Andrejuk and the ministry he exercises as OCA Representative to the Moscow Patriarchate and Dean of the Representation Church of the Great Martyr Catherine in Moscow.

“One of the crucial projects for Father Daniel is the ongoing restoration at Saint Catherine’s, with which we hope to move forward especially in this year which marks the 25th anniversary of its establishment as the OCA’s Representation Church,” Metropolitan Tikhon said.

At the conclusion of their meeting, Patriarch Kirill presented a triple panagia set to Metropolitan Tikhon, who in turn presented a hand-crafted silver cross with jewels from the OCA Diocese of Mexico.

Meeting with Serbian Patriarch, US Ambassador, Canadian Chargé d’affaires, and anniversary concert. On the morning of Thursday January 31, Metropolitan Tikhon met with His Holiness, Patriarch Irinej of Serbia, at which time they discussed the current situation of their respective Churches and discussed possible fraternal visits in the future.

Metropolitan Tikhon and the OCA delegation then visited the United States Embassy to Russia, where they were received by Ambassador Jon Huntsman and met Canada’s interim Charge d’Affaires, Stephane Jobin. Ambassador Huntsman thanked Metropolitan Tikhon for the important role in the international community played by Saint Catherine Representation Church, which the Ambassador visited for the annual 9-11 Memorial Service and on numerous other occasions.

On Thursday evening, Metropolitan Tikhon and delegation members attended a concert in honor of Patriarch Kirill and the tenth anniversary of the Russian Church’s 2009 Local Council, at which His Holiness was elected to the Patriarchal Throne. A choir of 700 voices performed the concert, which featured pieces by numerous Russian composers, at the State Kremlin Palace.

Patriarchal Anniversary Liturgy at Christ the Savior Cathedral. On Friday, February 1, Metropolitan Tikhon, Bishop Daniel and the clergy members of the OCA delegation joined the Primates and representatives of the Local Churches for the celebration of the anniversary Patriarchal Divine Liturgy at Christ the Savior Cathedral. His Holiness, Patriarch John X of Antioch, Patriarch Irinej of Serbia, and His Beatitude, Metropolitan Rastislav of the Czech Lands and Slovakia, together with the representa- tives of the Churches of Alexandria, Romania, Bulgaria and Poland, also concelebrated. At the conclusion of the Liturgy, Patriarch John congratulated Patriarch Kirill on the anniversary of his enthronement, after which His Beatitude, Metropolitan Onufry of Kyiv and All Ukraine read the congratulatory address of the members of the Holy Synod of the Russian Orthodox Church and presented gifts on their behalf, to which His Holiness responded with deep gratitude. [A video of the Divine Liturgy is available online.]

Visits to the Donskoy and Sretensky Monasteries. Metropolitan Tikhon and the OCA delegation visited Moscow’s Donskoy Monastery on Saturday, February 2, where they were received by His Grace, Bishop Paramon, Bishop of Bronnitsy and venerated the relics of His Beatitude’s heavenly patron, Saint Tikhon the Confessor of Moscow that are enshrined in the monastery’s Cathedral of the Don Icon of the Mother of God. They also visited the Sretensky Monastery and Seminary in central Moscow, where Metropolitan Tikhon and Bishop Daniel served at the All-Night Vigil with Bishop Matthew.

Sunday Divine Liturgy at OCA Representation Church. The following morning—Sunday, February 3—Metropolitan Tikhon, Bishop Daniel and Bishop Matthew concelebrated the Divine Liturgy at the OCA Representation Church of the Great Martyr Catherine, where they were welcomed by Father Daniel Andrejuk. Concelebrants included Father Alexander Rentel; Archpriest Leonid Kallinin, Director of the Church of Russia’s Architecture and Renovation Department; Archpriest Alexei Kurenkov, Rector of the Belgorod Seminary and a graduate of Saint Tikhon’s Orthodox Theological Seminary, South Canaan, PA; Archdeacon Joseph Matusiak; and the parish clergy. [A series of videos of the Divine Liturgy is available online.] Following the Divine Liturgy, Metropolitan Tikhon thanked Father Daniel and Matushka Vera as they begin their second year of service in Moscow.

After enjoying a luncheon at Saint Catherine’s Church, Metropolitan Tikhon and the OCA delegation departed for the airport, accompanied by Metropolitan Ignatius, Bishop Matthew, Father Igor Yakimchuk, and Dmitri Petrovsky, for their return flight to the US.
St. Tabitha’s House is a Christian orphanage under the Greek Orthodox Patriarchate of Alexandria started in the Kibera slums of Kenya in Africa. They currently house 26 children, providing food, shelter, academic and spiritual education, and so much more. St. Tabitha’s House was founded by Father Agapios Lipesa and his wife, Papadia Dorah. He was assigned as rector of St. George the Great Martyr Orthodox parish in the Kibera slums in the Kisumu Diocese in Kenya. As part of his work as a parish priest, he consistently saw the horrific conditions that the people of Kibera lived in. At the same time, he felt a strong love for the orphans who make up the most vulnerable part of the population.

After the country’s post-election violence in 2007, many parents from the Kibera slums died and their children were left as orphans. Father Agapios was then assigned to be the parish priest at St. George’s also in Kibera (one of the biggest slums in all of Africa). As he was feeding the children of the parish and watching the orphans suffer, he decided to start the St. Tabitha’s House to take care of the orphans and widows of the Kibera slums. He took the neediest kids to his own house to care for them as his own until St. Tabitha’s was built.

Currently, Father Agapios and Papadia Dorah have moved the children from Nairobi to Kisumu (a more safe, affordable and sustainable environment where they have a quieter, more peaceful life). They are hoping to raise a small flock of chickens and dairy cows which will be used to both feed the children and to provide a small but sustainable income for the orphanage.

How can the FOCA help St. Tabitha’s House?

Our Gifts of Love campaign this year will be earmarked to send money directly to Father Agapios at St. Tabitha’s House. As Jesus Christ asks us to feed the hungry and clothe the poor, we are asking your chapters/parishes to open their hearts to do His work. Although they have a new home in Kisumu, they are still struggling to meet the basic needs of the children and drive them to school in Nairobi and church in Kibera. They spend nearly $1 on every child for food daily ($26 daily for food), and $150 yearly for school fees for all the children. For those in High School, they spend $400 yearly for school fees.

During this Great Lenten period, kindly consider contributing your “alms” to this wonderful Orthodox Christian orphanage. Donations are welcome from members, chapters, districts, parishes and friends of the Fellowship. Please remit on the FOCA website – www.orthodoxfellowship.org -- or mail directly to National FOCA Treasurer, Michael Bowan, 2100 Lincoln Park West, #9ES, Chicago, IL 60614-4713. May God bless you for helping the children!

My dear brothers and sisters in Christ:

This year, we celebrate the 225th anniversary of the arrival of the Valaam missionaries to Alaska. Next year will mark the 50th anniversary of the glorification of St. Herman, one of the very first acts of the Orthodox Church in America, which was granted the prophetic gift of autocephaly in 1970.

Over these 225 years, the seeds for a local Church in North America have been planted and watered by the prayers and labors of many saints and faithful Christians. It is a great treasure that we have inherited and we should give thanks to God for this. But we should also be mindful of our responsibility as the guardians of this gift and our calling to nurture and increase what has been handed down to us.

At last year’s All-American Council in Saint Louis, I offered a broad outline of a vision by which we, as the Orthodox Church in America, might accomplish this, through my small booklet, Of What Life Do We Speak: Four Pillars for the Fulfillment of the Apostolic Work of the Church. My intention in publishing this work was to provide, not a comprehensive handbook, but a tool for the interactive involvement of all members of the Church, whether on the diocesan, institutional, parish, or individual level.

To help with this, we have prepared a study guide for the Four Pillars which you may find posted on our website. I know of several parishes that have already begun to explore the Four Pillars in their parish educational programs and I hope that this Study Guide can assist more to do the same. Broader programs, such as a symposium in May of this year, are also being planned.

I would invite all of you, individually or collectively, to reflect upon the vision and the enduring goals that are proposed in the four pillars, to make use of the study guide that has been prepared, or to establish your own creative approach to the questions and challenges that confront us today as the Church in North America.

As we look towards the future, we must also be sure to incorporate and build upon the experience of our beloved saints and forebears, examining ourselves honestly with respect to both the successes and challenges of the past. The coming season of Great Lent is the perfect opportunity to both enter into this self-examination and to be spiritually strengthened and enlightened for the work that lies ahead.

May the intercessions of our Venerable Father Herman comfort and strengthen us on our Lenten journey and on our path together as the local Orthodox Church in North America.

Global Crisis In Orthodoxy Continues: The Pseudo-autocephalous Ukrainian Orthodox “Church”

By The Editor

On January 6th, the Patriarch of Constantinople (Istanbul, Turkey) followed through on his fall announcement and issued a “tomos” of autocephaly to the schismatic so-called “Orthodox Church in the Ukraine” under the leadership of Mr. Epiphanius Dumenko, a self-styled “Metropolitan.” President Peter Poroshenko of the Ukraine was present in Istanbul when the decree was issued by Bartholomew after liturgy on the Great Feast of the Lord’s Epiphany. The written agreement on the “autocephaly” between the two, however, was kept secret in violation of Ukrainian law. At Dumenko’s enthronement at St. Sophia’s Cathedral in Kiev on Sunday, February 3rd — his 40th birthday — only representatives of Constantinople participated, and Bartholomew himself did not attend.

As of this writing in late March, not one other Local Orthodox Church in the world has recognized this new, schismatic “Orthodox Church in the Ukraine” despite much pressure and politicking by Constantinople. Several churches have expressly refused to recognize it and, in fact, have forbidden their clergy from serving with its schismatic clergy. The Russian Orthodox Church upon the autocephaly’s announcement in October 2018 immediately severed communal relations with Constantinople; the Russian Orthodox Church Outside Russia (ROCOR), a constituent part of that church, soon followed suit.

Perhaps the strongest opponent of Constantinople’s uncanonical actions to date (other than the Russian Church) has been the Serbian Orthodox Church under Patriarch Irenei. According to a statement on February 28th: it “does not recognize the artificial ‘confederation’ of Ukrainian schismatic groups, which has been proclaimed, yet from a canonical viewpoint does not exist, being, rather, essentially forced, as ‘the autocephalous church of Ukraine’ — “the schismatics remain schismatics” and “someone who becomes a schismatic once will always be a schismatic, excepting instances of sincere and deep repentance.” “The only Church that the Serbian Church knows and recognizes is the canonical Ukrainian Orthodox Church led by Metropolitan Onufry of Kiev and All Ukraine.” The invasion by Constantinople into the Russian Church’s territory was uncanonical and its unification assembly was “a dividing false assembly, which has dug an even deeper pit of division and societal collapse for the poor country Ukraine.” Serbian clergy are forbidden from liturgical and canonical communion with the schismatic clergy.

The Polish Orthodox Church’s position corresponds closely to that of Serbia. Metropolitan Sawa of Warsaw wrote to Patriarch Bartholomew (January 3rd) and stated that he had acted in defiance of canonical tradition and that the Ukrainian schismatics lack the grace of ordination. The “so-called ‘unification council’ which was held in December in Kiev, did not eliminate the problem but, conversely, strengthened it, introducing a host of painful not only ecclesiastical, but also socio-political phenomena into the life of society.” Representatives of the schismatic church groups who have been deprived of their priestly and episcopal orders took part in the “the unification council.” “Mr. Philaret Denisenko was deprived of his order and reduced to the position of a layman. Then he ordained his new followers. These are people without the grace of the Sacrament.” Sawa again urged Bartholomew to convene a pan-Orthodox Council to address the crisis; Polish clergy are not to serve with the schismatic clergy.

Archbishop Anastasios of Tirana and All Albania wrote Bartholomew a lengthy letter (January 14th) in which, after first criticizing the Russian Church for not attending the Cretan Council and for “hastiness” in breaking communion with Constantinople, he refused to recognize the schismatic Ukrainian church. “While Filaret was deposed and excommunicated, he performed uncanonical liturgical actions, which do not constitute valid mysteries. Therefore the ordinations performed by him are non-existent, void, deprived of the divine grace of the Holy Spirit. Among them are the ordinations to deacon, priest and finally bishop of his pupil Sergei Dumenko, now Metropolitan Epiphany. “You state that you ‘have returned them to the hierarchial and priestly ranks’... We question, nevertheless, whether the ordinations performed by Filaret, while he was excommunicated and anathematized, acquired thereafter, without canonical ordination, validity from the Holy Spirit and a genuine seal of apostolic succession.” “Instead of making peace among and unifying the Orthodoxy of Ukraine, the unity of Orthodoxy throughout the world is threatened with division.” Anastasios, joining many other Orthodox leaders, called upon Constantinople to convene a pan-Orthodox synaxis of primates or council “in order to prevent the imminent danger of creating a painful schism that endangers the credibility of Orthodoxy and her persuasive witness to the contemporary world.”

This letter met with a sharp, lengthy and arrogant rebuke by Bartholomew (February 20th). He wrote that the Ecumenical Patriarchate has always had “the responsibility, not the privilege, to foresee the need of solving any problem at any local Church”; the bestowals of autocephaly by it have one and only one aim: “the orderly functioning of any individual Church, and not the production of false impressions and division of the One, Holy, United and Apostolic Church of God”; “history has endowed him with exceptional prerogatives”; he made the decision to restore Filaret and the others to their clerical ranks as “forgiveness” just as the Russian Church “forgave” the schismatic ROCOR church under “brazen political pressure” [Editor’s note: a completely false assertion]; “we are at a loss as to how this impertinence and slander against the Mother Church and our Modesty personally is tolerated by some and — unwittingly or willingly — sometimes espoused in the form of affirmation or repetition of arguments by those who avenge their benefactor”; “At the Phanar, we preach the genuine inheritance of ecclesiology because we draw from the wellspring of our Fathers and not from self-interest or other trivial motivations and political expediences. Consequently, it is the responsibility of all others to assimilate these disclosed truths — not, of course, in order to validate them, inasmuch as they are already authentically validated by ecclesiastical practice, but rather to restore the precious and authentic experience of the Fathers, who hoped in God alone, to the proper and sanctified way.”

Shortly before Metropolitan Tikhon participated in the Moscow celebrations marking Patriarch Kirill’s 10th anniversary of enthronement, the Orthodox Church in America released a statement on behalf of its Holy Synod of Bishops (January 28th). They expressed “our deep sorrow and distress over these developments”— “the full breaking of communion” between Moscow and Constantinople, “the creation by the Patriarchate of Constantinople of an ecclesial body consisting of two schismatic groups, the convening of a ‘Unification Council’ which recognized these groups as a new and unique body and which also elected for it a Metropolitan for Kyiv,” and “the proclamation of a form of autocephaly for this new body by the Patriarchate of Constantinople.” The bishops “determined at this time,” inter alia, “[t]o continue to recognize and support Metropolitan Onufry as the canonical head and Primate of the Ukrainian Orthodox Church” and “[t]o withhold, with several of our sister Churches, recognition of the Orthodox Church of Ukraine” (the new, schismatic “church”). And the synod once more urged Bartholomew to initiate “a conciliar process” to discuss “primacy and synodality” generally but not in regard to “this specific ecclesiastical dispute.” Although the OCA did not address whether its clergy may concelebrate with the schismatics, at least one of its bishops – Archbishop Mark of Philadelphia & Eastern PA – has forbidden his clergy from doing so in an archpastoral letter.

A few churches, such as Greece and Georgia, while not recognizing the schismatic Ukrainian church, have deferred a formal response pending further study of the matter.

In the meantime, criminal conduct by Ukrainian state authorities and “mobs” has escalated against canonical Ukrainian Orthodox churches, clergy and parishioners who refuse to “join” Constantinople’s new “church.” Paramilitary groups have forcibly entered churches during divine services and dragged the priests out onto the street in their vestments; others have randomly searched clergy and their rectories, and subjected them to interrogations; and the parliament has passed mandatory “renaming” of canonical churches and organizations, forcing them to include the “Russian Orthodox Church” in their names although they are Ukrainian citizens and legal entities under Ukrainian law. This is baseless and onerous discrimination and intimidation.

The United Nations Office of High Commissioner for Human Rights has called upon Kievian state authorities to respect and protect the rights of believers in the Ukrainian Orthodox Church in a report issued mid-March. “Although tensions between Orthodox communities in Ukraine existed prior to the armed conflict in eastern Ukraine, they have been significantly exacerbated by the ongoing autocephaly process.” It documented ten examples of persecution of the canonical church by state authorities and others, including the interrogation of clergy and searching of church and personal property. The Office recommends that Kiev “promptly improve the protection of fundamental freedoms, not least ahead of elections” and “uphold Ukraine’s international human rights obligations.”

In response to these troubling developments, the following statement was adopted at a meeting of the Holy Synod of the Russian Orthodox Church, under the chairmanship of Patriarch Kirill of Moscow, on February 26th (Journal No. 2):

The Holy Synod of the Russian Orthodox Church views the drastic worsening of the situation of the Ukrainian Orthodox Church with profound alarm.

The granting by the Constantinople Patriarchate of a “tomos of autocephaly” to the so-called “Orthodox Church in Ukraine,” artificially created by the merging of two schismatic organizations, has exacerbated the division among Orthodox Christians of Ukraine, and substantially aggravates inter-confessional relations.

The overt meddling by the government of Ukraine in the internal life of the Church is troubling, along with the efforts by politicians to exploit the Church in their own political interests. Fundamental human rights and freedoms which are also guaranteed by the Constitution of Ukraine are being violated.

The Supreme Rada of Ukraine has passed and enforced discriminatory laws, the aim of which are to deprive the Ukrainian Orthodox Church of her name and to legalize the seizure of her churches and monasteries. Believers of the canonical Church suffer a blow in other rights: their clergy are deprived of the opportunity to fully minister to military and security officers and prisoners.

It is becoming more apparent that the aim of ruling state representatives is to liquidate the Ukrainian Orthodox Church. Local authorities and security services were instructed to maximally transfer communities of the Ukrainian Orthodox Church into schism.

Threats are being made to take away the biggest monasteries and historic holy sites—the Kiev Lavra of the Caves and Pochaev Lavra—from the Ukrainian Orthodox Church.

In most cases the confiscation of churches from religious communities goes against their decision to remain in the canonical Church. A religious community’s decision is being replaced by a vote of a public gathering of citizens who by no means are always members of the parish. The minutes of such meetings are immediately confirmed by local government organs, after which the church is closed with the aid of paramilitary formations.

This lawlessness has led to spurs of violence towards clergy and faithful of the Ukrainian Orthodox Church. Despite assurances by the leaders of Ukraine and the Constantinople Patriarchate of the peaceful character of this so-called “unification of Ukrainian Orthodoxy,” dozens of churches have been confiscated through break-ins, by militant formations, with frequent cases of brutalization of clergy and believers of the canonical Church who strive to protect their holy sites. Dozens of communities of the Ukrainian Orthodox Church have been forced to gather for prayer in private homes or on the streets.

In this difficult situation, we call upon all the faithful flock of the Russian Orthodox Church to redouble their prayers for our suffering brethren in Ukraine, that they be granted courage and Christian patience in their standing for Holy Orthodoxy.

We appeal to the government of Ukraine to cease the persecution of its own citizenry who refuse to join the schism.

We ask the fraternal Local Orthodox Churches to prayerfully support the persecuted Ukrainian Orthodox Church headed by Metropolitan Onufry of Kiev and All Ukraine.

We call upon the global community to pay heed to the scandalous violation of human rights and properly condemn the harsh intervention of the Ukrainian government in matters of the Church.

The crisis of Orthodoxy in the Ukraine – directly caused by the Patriarch of Constantinople’s uncanonical misconduct – has intensified and caused a world-wide split between the largest and most influential Orthodox Church of Russia and that of Constantinople, necessarily creating adverse ramifications for other Orthodox churches and believers. For example, on the Sunday of Orthodoxy in Chicago this year, ROCOR and the Serbian Churches held their own service, apart from the usual pan-Orthodox celebration. Both the Moscow Patriarchate and ROCOR have withdrawn from the various Assemblies of Orthodox Bishops, including that in the United States. Calls for a pan-Orthodox synaxis of primates or council, however, have been repeatedly ignored and now rejected by Bartholomew.

It’s increasingly clear that the sole option is for the ancient patriarchates of Alexandria, Antioch and Jerusalem to convene a meeting on their own, without Constantinople, to invite all the other local Orthodox Churches to participate, and then to rectify the “Ecumenical” Patriarchate’s ecclesiastical misfeasance.

Let us continue to pray for persecuted Metropolitan Onufry and all the clergy and faithful of the one, canonical and holy Orthodox Church of the Ukraine!

NOTE: Needless to say, this article reflects the personal views of the Editor alone and does not purport to represent an official position of the OCA or FOCA.
On February 12th, the feast of the Three Great Hierarchs – Basil the Great, Gregory the Theologian, and John Chrysostom (OC) – Metropolitan Hilarion of Eastern America & New York, first hierarch of the Russian Orthodox Church Outside of Russia (ROCOR), celebrated Divine Liturgy and led the episcopal consecration of Archimandrite Luke (Murianka) as Bishop of Syracuse, vicar of the Eastern American Diocese, at Holy Trinity Russian Orthodox Monastery in Jordanville, NY where he has been abbot. He is also rector of Holy Trinity Seminary there.

Despite a pending snowstorm, hundreds of clergy and faithful assembled in the monastery’s Holy Trinity Cathedral. Many of the clergy are or have been the spiritual children of Father Luke, and were under his guidance as one-time dean of students of the Holy Trinity Seminary. Many also came to rejoice at the fact that, once more, the monastery will have a bishop-abbot. Since the 1940s, the monastery has had as its abbot a bishop, until the repose of Metropolitan Laurus (Skurla) in 2008.

The First Hierarch of the Russian Church Abroad was co-served by Metropolitan Luke of Zaporozhye & Melitopol (canonical Orthodox Church of the Ukraine), Archbishop Gabriel of Montreal & Canada, and Bishop Nicholas of Manhattan, as well as over 40 diocesan and monastery clergy.

After being presented with the archpastoral staff, Bishop Luke blessed the faithful for the first time. A festal luncheon was prepared for all, where congratulatory addresses were read from hierarchs, monastery brethren and seminary students. Axios! Editor’s note: Bishop Luke is from the family who owned and operated the Murianka Funeral Home on Rising Sun Avenue in Philadelphia for many years as older Fellowship members will undoubtedly recall.

PASCHAL GREETINGS

The greeting, “CHRIST IS RISEN,” with the reply, “INDEED HE IS RISEN,” is heard throughout the Orthodox Church for 40 days, from Pascha to Ascension Day. Because the church is universal, the same words are said in many different countries and spoken in many different languages. Below are some of the greetings used in Orthodox churches in different countries. See if you can match the greeting with the country from which it comes. The greetings are written phonetically so you can pronounce them.
