Hello Parents!

My name is Alexis Gregg, and I look forward to teaching art classes for MOM over the next year. My husband, Tanner Coleman will also be teaching, especially as we welcome our second daughter this April. I hope to enrich the already excellent education and care our children receive at MOM. Tanner and I are both artists with experience working with all levels of children and adults. I teach at Wesleyan College in the Art Department and Tanner manages our small business, AnT Sculpture and Design. More about our work can be viewed on our website: www.antsculpture.com

As we start to build up the art supplies we’d like to ask for your assistance in collecting recycled items or donated materials. Maybe as you are spring cleaning you can let go of some things!

Items to collect or donate:
- cardboard tubes (toilet paper/paper towels)
- egg cartons
- plastic cups/containers (yogurt, peanut butter/tupperwear etc)
- writing utensils
- craft items or art supplies (paper, scissors, paints, hole punches)
- shoe boxes
- plastic bottle caps/buttons
- paper plates/bowls/cups
- magazines
- newspapers

Also, we will get messy. If you’d like your child's clothing to remain paint free please provide an apron or art shirt for them to wear. Most things we do should wash out, but we can’t always guarantee that.

We look forward to meeting you all and working with your bright children!
