

BiblioCore

The BiblioCore catalog replaces all the functionality of your traditional OPAC while fully integrating with your existing ILS. BiblioCore provides patron-friendly features to help search, explore, borrow and do more in your online library.

The searching features are great!
Much easier to find items of interest and narrow the search.

Boston Public Library Patron

Search

Your catalog is your number one service point for patrons

With roughly 70-80% of all traffic to your website heading directly to your catalog, it's crucial to ensure patrons can find what they're looking for and discover other relevant library resources and events.

Basic search: Easy and smart

Relevance ranking algorithms that prioritize results based on your collection metrics.

Patron-friendly facets: based on flexible data mapping from your ILS and your cataloging rules.

Facet searches by community contributed content: tags, genre, or rating.

Natural language detection to ensure that patrons running keyword searches for "new music" or "kids movies" will find what they are looking for.

Full native Unicode support for searching (and displaying) world language scripts.

Auto-suggest for subject and author searches based on your library's authority records.

Did-you-mean? functionality handles spelling errors in words and phrases.

For zero search results: easy customization of options, including embedded live-help widgets.

Flexible enough to find call numbers, ISBNs, local headings, and hundreds of other data fields from the basic search box.

Intelligent stemming and stop word recognition make it easy to find popular titles like The Help, and ensures that a search for "wild" does not find the author "Wilder."

Advanced tools for staff and power users

Extraordinary precision.

A diverse range of facets.

An intuitive form-based interface.

Unprecedented flexibility for complex search queries, including the ability to create and edit nested strings with Boolean operators and wildcards.

Hundred of field specifiers allow researchers to drill down into the catalog.

Staff and patrons can use Advanced Search to create auto-refreshing queries such as "New Spanish Fiction" with persistent URLs that can be embedded on any external site.

New

While You Wait: To ensure that patrons always find good recommendations that are available (no holds queue), readalikes for popular titles will automatically display in the search results and on the holds page.

Responsive, mobile-friendly design – no apps required.

Explore

Change the way your patrons use the library

Features that bring the pleasure of browsing the stacks to your online library experience.

The New Titles carousel is updated automatically and features newly arrived titles, on order titles, multiple formats, and more.

Browse the Shelf provides a cover view of titles with adjacent call numbers: it's like browsing the physical shelf, but better!

Feature lists of pre-populated award winners and bestsellers from your choice of hundreds of awards and respected media—no staff time required.

Recent community activity: your patrons can browse through titles that have been rated, or reviewed, by other patrons and staff at your library.

Reviews and lists recommended by your library staff are prominently featured on the title record or bibliographic page.

Feature in Catalog

Promote your library databases, blog posts, and events alongside search results.

Feature staff blog posts about specific authors or titles in your catalog. Promote your local expertise.

Databases, blog posts and events are linked via subject headings and call numbers, rather than keywords, to improve precision and control.

Borrow

We make it easy to get your collections into the hands of your patrons

Availability data where, when and how your patrons want it

Up-to-date availability status.

Branch-level availability offered as a facet from search results.

In-branch terminals can be configured to highlight local availability and call numbers.

"My preferred location" option highlights item details and availability from that location.

Ability to map and display different item statuses: "available for borrowing," "available online," "available for in-library use only."

Personalized login

Patrons select their own usernames; no need to remember a 14-digit barcode, but those who do can still use their barcodes to sign on.

"Remember me" feature provided for remote customers, along with forgotten password support.

Easy, user-friendly holds

One-click holds that automatically remember your preferred location, with no additional logins required.

Holds management: suspend, activate and view items ready for pick up.

Streamlined account management

Clean, clear design and flexible sorting make it easy to track borrowing, due dates and renewals.

Fines display comes with various payment integration options – including the option of BiblioFines, an additional module with an out-of-the-box PayPal solution.

Account settings page provides easy access to email and password updates and privacy settings.

Patrons are never sent back to the "old" account management area of the ILS-powered OPAC.

Consistent look, feel and user experience.

eContent integration

A seamless discovery and borrowing experience

Integrate your eBooks and allow your patrons to check them out right from your catalog.

Patrons can check eBook availability in real time.

Patrons can find their holds and checked out eBooks right from their Account Management page.

Overdrive, 3M Cloud, and Baker & Taylor Axis 360 eBook integration is available for all BiblioCore libraries at no extra cost.

I love the new system/catalog website. Love it! Love it love it love it! So many fantastic features – tags, reviews, lists, recommendations! My book nerd’s heart is all aflutter! Excellent work, and thank you.

Do more

Keep Track, Recommend, Share

Build a sense of community around your catalog. From reviews to staff recommendations, engaging content keeps your patrons involved in their library experience.

Personal record-keeping tools – beyond account management

The My Profile page makes it easier to share, find and promote recommendations, lists, and more.

My Shelves allows patrons to organize everything they have read, seen, and heard, or want to read, see or hear in the future.

Privacy controls allow patrons to choose to share, or keep their content private.

The Borrowing History feed provides patrons with the ability to view their recent borrowing history on an opt-in basis.

Library staff recommendations, readers’ advisory and reference built right into the catalog

Staff can develop, annotate, and share image-rich lists of recommendations or subject guides on any topic.

Creating community around your collection

Patrons and staff can add ratings, reviews, tags, and videos to items in the catalog.

All community contributed content is shared across all BiblioCommons libraries, creating a critical mass for all participants. With almost 8 million registered BiblioCommons users, there is always something to explore in the catalog.

This is one of my favourite books! I like this book the most out of the Divergent series. It is fast-paced, adventurous, and suspenseful. If you like this book, you should read 'Four' because it is almost the same thing but in Tobias's(Four's) point of view.
