

KIDS DAY!

Friday, April 28th, 2017

Special thanks to :

The Rabbit hOle is partnering with the Kansas City Public Library and the Crossroads Academy to launch an annual children’s literature festival in downtown Kansas City that will feature award-winning authors and illustrators from around the country! The two-day event - “LitFest KC” - is scheduled for April 28th and 29th, 2017. This year’s presenters include our first National Ambassador for Young People’s Literature - Jon Scieszka, 2016 Caldecott winner Sophie Blackall, John Bemelmans Marciano, and Nina Crews - with four more outstanding author/illustrators pending!

Patterned after the Reading Reptile’s storied literature festival of years past, LitFest KC will feature a Kids Day (Friday, April 28) for school groups and families, and an all-day Conference (Saturday, April 29) for educators, artists, and writers. (Both days will be staged at the Central Library, located at 14 W. 10th St.)

RIGHT NOW (through Feb 15th), we are inviting school groups and families to pre-register for the Kids Day. Morning sessions (9 - 11:15am) will be geared toward 1st - 3rd grades; Afternoon sessions (12:00 - 2:15pm) will be geared toward 4th-6th grades. SPACE IS LIMITED! To secure a spot, you can fill out the form below and return it with your deposit by mail, OR, you can visit www.rabbitholekc.org/litfestkc - fill out the form online, and submit it with your deposit using a credit card.
