You have a pattern inspired by radiation? The designer nodded. A pattern inspired by the force that has created numerous disasters? Are you nuts? The criticism bounced straight off the man. Just look at the pattern he said, see how the danger of the radiation symbol is embedded into the background decay, an ever present part of the post nuclear reality? So we looked. And damn if he wasn’t right. There are radiation symbols in there...
Is there no theme our designers are not prepared to hijack?