ENDING THE HEADACHE DOCTOR SHORTAGE

The United States has LESS THAN 1/6 THE NUMBER OF HEADACHE DOCTORS IT NEEDS.

Without enough doctors, headache patients MUST WAIT WEEKS OR MONTHS FOR AN APPOINTMENT.

- Symptoms Worsen
- ER Visits Become Necessary
- Improper Treatment Leads To Opioid Use Disorders
- Attacks Become Chronic

INCREASING FELLOWSHIPS IN HEADACHE MEDICINE can expand the physician workforce that treats headache patients.

HELP HEADACHE PATIENTS GET THE TREATMENT THEY NEED.

Ensure full federal funding of approved headache fellowships.
A headache doctor is defined as a physician certified in the field of Headache Medicine by the United Council for Neurologic Subspecialties (UCNS).

An approved headache fellowship is a fellowship program in Headache Medicine accredited by the UCNS.
